Plastics Molds, Design, Construction Use Gordon B. Thayer,1944 DuBois and Pribble's Plastics Mold Engineering Handbook Eric L. Buckleitner,1995-05-31 From day one of the concept of this book about 1941 our objective has been to make the clearest possible statements about the thinking processes which go into the good design of a mold Carefully chosen illustrations show the rational process Recommendations are made to maximize the effectiveness Basically the design of a mold is only one third of the team effort in producing a particular plastic part The best molder in the world will be handicapped by a badly designed or a badly made mold The best mold maker in the world cannot make a good mold from a bad design The best design in the world will only be the best when the mold is well made and operated by a knowledgeable molder Being right the first time is or should be the prime objective of any mold designer In the 1930 s and 40 s it seemed every mold was an invention A 1500 ton compression press was a monster There were few design guidelines except the expertise of those toolmakers who had to use my designs Fortunately for me when a problem arose my immediate mentor simply said Wayne you designed it go take care of the problem The comments of those toolmakers were not always complimentary

Injection Molding of Plastics Islyn Thomas,1947 Plastic Product Design Ronald D. Beck,1980 Handbook of Thermoplastics Injection Mould Design P.S. Cracknell,R.W. Dyson,1993-05-31 Injection moulding is one of the most important methods of manufacturing plastics products Through the development of sophisticated micro processor control systems the modern injection moulding machine is capable of producing precision mouldings with close tolerances in large numbers and with excellent reproducibility This capability however is often limited by the lack of a proper appreciation of mould design The mould or tool as it is often called is at the heart of the injection moulding process Its basic function is to accept the plastic melt from the injection unit and cool it to the desired shape prior to ejection It is not however simply a matter of the mould having an impression of the shape to be moulded Many other factors have to be taken into account for example the ability to fill the mould impression properly and efficiently without inducing weaknesses in the moulding and the efficient cooling of the moulding in order to maximise production rates without diminishing the quality of the moulding In addition the type of mould gate and runner system and ejection system which will best meet the needs of a particular job specification have to be determined In our experience lack of attention to such factors leads to the mould limiting the ability of the injection moulding machine and preventing the process as a whole from achieving its true potential
