

LBS1 EXAMINATION QUESTIONS AND VERIFIED ANSWERS

A special education teacher is summarizing the evaluation findings of a second-grade student with a suspected intellectual disability. As part of the assessment, the teacher administered a standardized assessment that is normed on a younger population of students to obtain information about the student's developmental age-equivalency. Which of the following strategies related to scoring the assessment would be most appropriate in ensuring the accuracy of the information?

- A. Using the highest chronological age presented in the manual to score assessment.
- B. Presenting the findings descriptively without reporting standardized scores.
- C. Estimating the student's grade-level abilities based on performance on the test.
- D. Converting the student's raw scores into standardized scores and percentile ranks. - ✓ ✓ B.

*When an assessment is administered to a student outside of the normed population, no standard or scaled scores can be accurately calculated, but the information could still be useful to demonstrate strengths and needs.

For which of the following purposes would a behavior frequency chart be used most appropriately?

- A. Identifying the reward that most effectively motivates the student.
- B. Comparing a student's behavior with that of other students in the class.
- C. Determining the appropriate intervention to address a student's behavior.
- D. Establishing the baseline for a student's behavior - ✓ ✓ D.

* Tracking how frequently a behavior occurs in various contexts is part of establishing baseline and having a comparison to evaluate interventions.

Screening tools are best described as forms of assessment that have which of the following characteristics?

- A. They provide detailed information on exact supports a student requires.
- B. They indicate when further assessment or intervention may be needed.
- C. They inform school administrators about classroom achievement levels.
