English First Additional Language Feb March Paper 2014memo:

Responses to the 'Arabellions' Tanja Börzel, Assem Dandashly, Thomas Risse, 2017-10-02 This book studies the reactions by external actors including the European Union to the events unfolding in the Arab world beginning in December 2010. In particular, contributors look at external actors' attempts to balance their desire for stability with their normative principles toward human rights and democracy. The book compares the action and inaction of the EU with other international and regional players including the United States, Russia, Turkey, and Israel, and assesses the response of these actors to the Arabellions events, analysing changes in their approaches to the Arab region. The contributions to this book answer three questions: 1. How have external actors assessed the Arabellions and what role did they see for themselves in this context? 2. Which goals and instruments did external actors pursue toward the MENA region? In particular, how did they deal with conflicting goals such as support for human rights and democracy on the one hand and concerns about security and stability on the other? 3. How can we explain the varying responses of external actors to the Arabellions? This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of European Integration.

International Broadcasting and Its Contested Role in Australian Statecraft Geoff Heriot, 2023-03-14 This book offers an insightful reappraisal of international broadcasting as discursive rather than soft power in service of democratic statecraft. This, at a time when issues of transnational media, the credibility of news, and the perils of disinformation and information warfare figure worryingly in public discourse. Reflecting the perspective of middle power Australia, author Geoff Heriot locates the strategic utility of multiplatform international broadcasting with reference to contemporary theories of soft, hard, smart power projection and intercultural communication. He applies a fresh model of strategic analysis to the political history of Radio Australia, examining the various external and internal variables that resulted in its flawed success in political communication during the late Cold War period.

The Emergence of Brand-Name Capitalism in Late Colonial India Douglas E. Haynes, 2022-09-22 This book examines the emergence of professional advertising in western India during the interwar period. It explores the ways in which global manufacturers advanced a brand name capitalism among the Indian middle class by promoting the sale of global commodities during the 1920s and 1930s, a time when advertising was first introduced in India as a profession and underwent critical transformations. Analysing the cultural strategies, both verbal and visual, used by foreign businesses in their advertisements to capture urban consumers, Haynes argues that the promoters of various commodities crystalized their campaigns around principles of modern conjugality. He also highlights the limitations of brand name capitalism during this period, examining both its inability to cultivate markets in the countryside or among the urban poor and its failure to secure middle class customers. With numerous examples of illustrated advertisements taken from Indian newspapers, the book discusses campaigns for male sex tonics and women's medicines, hot drinks such as Ovaltine and Horlicks, soaps such as Lifebuoy, Lux, and Sunlight, cooking mediums such as Dalda, and electrical household technologies. By examining the formation of brand name capitalism and two key structures that accompanied it the advertising agency and the field of professional advertising this book sheds new light on the global consumer economy in interwar India and places developments in South Asia into a larger global history of consumer capitalism
