

1. The first step is to identify the problem. In this case, the problem is that the company is not meeting its sales targets.

2. The second step is to analyze the data. This involves looking at sales figures, market trends, and customer feedback.

3. The third step is to develop a strategy. This involves setting goals, identifying key areas for improvement, and determining the resources needed.

4. The fourth step is to implement the strategy. This involves putting the plan into action and monitoring progress.

5. The fifth step is to evaluate the results. This involves comparing actual performance against the targets and making adjustments as needed.

The following table shows the sales performance of the company over the last five years. The data is presented in a table format with columns for Year, Sales (in millions), and Growth Rate (in %).

Year	Sales (in millions)	Growth Rate (in %)
2018	120	5%
2019	126	5%
2020	132	5%
2021	138	5%
2022	144	5%

As you can see, the company has achieved a steady growth rate of 5% over the five-year period. This is a positive sign, but it also indicates that the company is not meeting its sales targets.

To address this issue, the company has developed a strategy that focuses on increasing sales through several key initiatives:

- 1. Expanding into new markets.
- 2. Improving customer service.
- 3. Launching new products.
- 4. Increasing marketing efforts.
- 5. Streamlining operations.

The company is currently implementing these initiatives and expects to see a significant increase in sales over the next few years.
