Department of Operations Research, Frederick S. Hillier, 1969 The report presents and evaluates some new heuristic procedures for seeking an approximate solution of pure integer linear programming problems having only inequality constraints The computation time required by these methods after obtaining the optimal noninteger solution by the simplex method has generally been only a small fraction of that used by the simplex method for the problems tested which have 15 to 300 original variables Furthermore the solution obtained by the better procedures consistently has been close to optimal and frequently has actually been optimal There are numerous important problems in logistics that can be formulated as integer linear programming problems These algorithms enable one to obtain good solutions to large problems of this kind Author

Queueing Tables and Graphs Frederick S. Hillier, Oliver S. Yu, 1981 The Stanford team has generated relatively comprehensive numerical results for six major types of queueing systems. Among the systems covered in this volume, complete steady state probability distributions and their means are provided for both the number of customers in the systems and, whenever possible, for their waiting times. Special emphasis is given to the once intractable multiple-server models.
