Victorian writers and the city Université de Lille III. Centre d'études victoriennes, 1979 Comme pour l'anglais du XXe siècle finissant la Ville qu'il s'agisse de Londres ou des cités industrielles du Nord tait pour les sujets de la reine Victoria la fois un paradis et un enfer Peu decrivains de l'époque l'ont connue ils ont selon leur culture leur sensibilité leur tempérament r'agi de façons contradictoires un phénomène d'une ampleur sans précédent qui a t et demeure au centre des débats politiques et sociaux Les essais contenus dans ce volume reflètent la variété des attitudes victoriennes envers l'urbanisation Ils voquent les dures réalités de la misère et de la corruption les conclusions des enquêtes menées dans un labyrinthe trouvaient place aussi bien la criminalité qu'une culture nouvelle mais ils montrent aussi la magie de la ville douce cité d'illusion de mythes d'aspirations et de cauchemars qui selon Jonathan Raban est aussi réelle sinon plus que la cité perceptible dans les statistiques et les tudes des sociologues des démographes et des architectes Les principaux auteurs traités sont Charles Kingsley John Ruskin Frederic Harrison George Gissing Arthur Morrison et Rudyard Kipling Les six essais qui leur sont consacrés sont précédés d'un essai plus général critiqué par un spécialiste reconnu de la civilisation urbaine britannique L'ensemble entend apporter un complément original aux tudes parues sur la question en Angleterre depuis une douzaine d'années Il reflète l'ambiguïté des jugements humains devant un phénomène tangible éminemment analysable dont procèdent de multiples visions subjectives et substantielles

Teaching British Women Writers, 1750-1900 Jeanne Moskal, Shannon R. Wooden, 2005 The exuberant recovery from obscurity of scores of British women writers has prompted professors and publishers to revisit publication of women's writings New curricular inclusion of these sometimes quirky often passionate writers profoundly disrupts traditional pedagogical assumptions about what constitutes literature This book addresses this radically changed educational landscape offering practical proven teaching strategies for newly recovered writers both in special topics courses and in traditional teaching environments Moreover it addresses the institutional issues confronting feminist scholars who teach women writers in a variety of settings and the kinds of career altering effects the decision to teach this material can have on junior and senior scholars alike Collectively these essays argue that teaching noncanonical women writers invigorates the curriculum as a whole not only by introducing the voices of women writers but by incorporating new genres by asking new questions about readers assumptions and aesthetic values and by altering the power relations between teacher and student for the better

Victorian Writers and the Image of Empire Laurence Kitzen, 2001-03-30 Writers of imperial fiction in the period 1840-1914 created a strong image of the British Empire that was often confused with the empire as it actually existed Even in the 1940s many people in Britain and the British Dominions still accepted the stereotypical view that the British Empire was a highly moral creation This book studies the literature of imperialism in the Victorian and Edwardian periods to show how this image of empire was created and how it developed such strength The volume concentrates on the works of major writers of imperialism such as Rudyard Kipling H Rider Haggard John Buchan and G A Henty but also looks extensively at the writings of less familiar figures such as Robert Ballantyne and W H G Kingston Many of the texts produced by these writers were books for boys and they were very popular They were often given as gifts and were awarded as prizes in schools The books created a portrait of the British Empire as a place for settlement the finding of treasure the strengthening of religious beliefs and moral training and the operation of codes of behavior for gentlemen They emphasized courage and the willingness to face death in the service of Britain and they suggested that the qualities of good citizens were the same as those of good imperialists This was a comforting and influential concept during a period of imperial acquisition
