

Federalist #10

FACTIONS

Federalist 10 is about controlling factions. Although all Federalist 10 papers are for the Constitution, Federalist 10 is about the dangers of factions.

All factions, no matter how innocent they seem, are motivated by human selfishness.

- Federalists - people who were in favor of the new constitution
- The Federalist Papers - John Jay, James Madison, and Alexander Hamilton represented the Federalists and published papers in a New York newspaper to convince the public to ratify the Constitution. They addressed common concerns and explained how the government would look once the constitution was ratified.

These Papers answered the question

How will the Constitution protect the liberty of citizens against the tyranny of the majority?

- The Federalists were not a fan of a pure democracy because the majority would always win against the minority.
- Madison talks about the dangers of factions. "Among the numerous advantages promised by a well-constructed Union, none deserves to be more accurately developed than its tendency to break and control the violence of faction."
Factions: "By a faction, I understand a number of citizens, whether amounting to a majority or minority of the whole, who are united and actuated by some common impulse of passion, or of interest, adverse to the rights of other citizens, or to the permanent and aggregate interests of the community."
A faction is a group of people who come together if they have the same interest/passion. Or they are group of people whose desire is to dominate government so that they may impose their own interests on a whole society.
- Madison proposes two solutions that doesn't make the Antifederalists so happy "There are two methods of curing the mischiefs of faction:"
 - a. "the one, by removing its causes;" (Stop the factions from ever forming)
 - b. "The other, by controlling its effects." (Let the factions form, but limit their power)
- He explains that the first option is not desirable by saying, "It could never be more truly said than of the first remedy, that it was worse than the disease. Liberty is to faction what air is to fire, an ailment without which it instantly expires. But it could not be less folly to abolish liberty, which is essential to political life, because it nourishes faction, than it would be to wish the annihilation of air, which is essential to animal life, because it imparts to fire its destructive agency." This option would destroy liberty which would be worse than having these factions in the first place.
- The second option would be to create a society that everyone has the same opinions. But as Madison explains, "As long as the reason of man continues fallible, and he is at liberty to exercise it, different opinions will be formed." This option would be both impractical and impossible.
What Madison believes to be the ultimate solution....

Federalist 10 Document Based Questions:

Document-Based Assessment Activities Marc Pioch, Jodene Smith, 2020-03-02 Today's students need to know how to evaluate sources and use evidence to support their conclusions. This K-12 resource for teachers provides instructional support as well as a variety of learning opportunities for students. Through the activities in this book, students will ask and answer compelling questions, analyze primary sources, approach learning through an inquiry lens, and hone their historical thinking skills. The lessons teach skills and strategies for analyzing historical documents, partnered with document-based assessments. Graphic organizer templates help students structure their analyses. This resource, written by Marc Pioch and Jodene Smith, prepares students for standardized tests and engages students with inquiry. The scaffolded approach to teaching analysis skills can be applied across grades K-12.
