Israel: Background and U. S. Relations Jim Zanotti, 2014-10-31 Since Israel's founding in 1948 successive U S Presidents and many Members of Congress have demonstrated a commitment to Israel's security and to maintaining close U S Israel defense diplomatic and economic cooperation U S and Israeli leaders have developed close relations based on common perceptions of shared democratic values and religious affinities U S policy makers often seek to determine how events and U S policy choices in the Middle East may affect Israel's security and Congress provides active oversight of executive branch dealings with Israel and other actors in the region

Global Stability and U.S. National Security Kristen Boon, Aziz Z. Huq, 2012 Terrorism Commentary on Security Documents is a series that provides primary source documents and expert commentary on the worldwide counter terrorism effort Among the documents collected are transcripts of Congressional testimony reports by such federal government bodies as the Congressional Research Service CRS and the Government Accountability Office GAO and case law covering issues related to terrorism Most volumes carry a single theme and inside each volume the documents appear within topic based categories The series also includes a subject index and other indices that guide the user through this complex area of the law Volume 123 Global Stability and U S National Security includes documents that illuminate instability concerns in key regions of the world and offer insights into how the lack of stability negatively affects U S interests as well as the interests of other nations The documents selected by Douglas Lovelace include primarily studies of instability concerns in the Middle East and North Africa as well as a document providing a general assessment of global stability and reports on Southeast and Central Asia and Latin America

State Responses to Nuclear Proliferation Brian K. Chappell, 2021-01-07 Contemporary fears of rogue state nuclear proliferation and nuclear terrorism pose unique challenges for the global community This book offers a unique approach by examining why states that have the military capability to severely damage a proliferating state's nuclear program instead choose to pursue coercive diplomacy The author argues cognitive psychological influences including the trauma derived from national tragedies like the September 11th attacks and the Holocaust and a history of armed conflict increase the threat perceptions of foreign policy decision makers when confronting a state perceived to be challenging the existing power structure by pursuing a nuclear weapon The powerful state's degree of perceived threat combined with its national security policies military power projection capabilities and public support then influence whether it will take no action use coercive diplomacy sanctions or employ military force to address the weaker state's nuclear ambitions
