

How to Write a Movie Review:

1st paragraph: Opening

Catch the reader's attention!

How do you do this? Introduce yourself as a movie-reviewer. Gain the audience's trust. Give them a general idea of what kind of movie you'll describe. Don't give away too much at the beginning because you want your readers to continue reading until you're done. For now, just tease them with a positive or negative comparison. Think about the moral of the story. Example: "If you've ever dreamed about transforming yourself into somebody else, somebody new or different, this may be the film for you."

2nd paragraph: Take Care of Business

All movie reviews will give general information about:

- A.) movie title + genre (Is it a drama, horror, comedy... ?)
- B.) director
- C.) year it was made + rating
- D.) In one or two sentences, explain very simply what the movie is all about.
*Don't give too much information yet. Keep the audience wanting more.

3rd paragraph : Character and plot summary

What happens in the movie?

You should NOT tell everything that happens--and especially not the ending. But you want to summarize the basic plot of the movie, in more detail than you do in the paragraph above.

- *One way to do this might be to write a sentence about each main character.
- *Include the names of the main characters, and the actors who play them.

4th paragraph: Analyze the ingredients. Briefly discuss what you liked or didn't like about the movie. Consider the quality of the:

- A.)Acting—Who is the weakest or strongest actor? Would you recommend another actor? Why?
- B.) Script / Dialogue—Is the dialogue cheesy? Is this a familiar script? Have you seen this type of movie before? What makes this story unique?
- C.) Special Effects—Does this movie rely on camera and/or computer effects? Is it effective? Would the movie be better with more/less special effects?
- D.) Budget—Are there big name actors? Does the film look and sound professional? Did the actors get paid millions of dollars for this role?
- E.) Costume Design-- Did the clothing fit the style of the movie?
