

PASSING

Key Points to Passing: Direction
Pace / Weight
Create angles to receive ball (triangles)

1. Dribble and Pass (mix short and long passes)

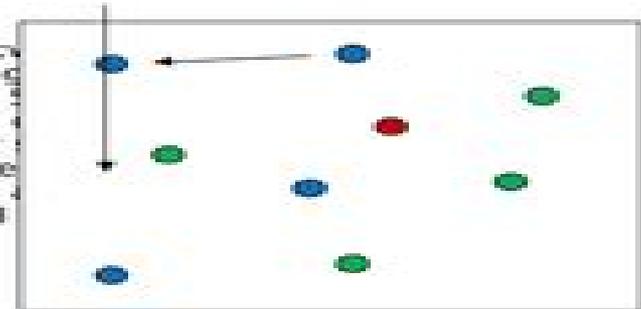

Half of the pupils in the grid have a ball and the other half do not. The players with a ball need to dribble around the grid and find someone without the ball to pass to.

2. Pass to score (with floaters)

Split the pupils into two even teams (with one or two acting as floaters (who are always on the attacking end)). The idea is for the team with the ball to complete 5 consecutive passes without the opposition gaining possession of the ball. If the opposition get the ball then they pass to one another and see if they can complete 5 passes. If teams complete 5 passes then they get a "goal" and can continue to see if they can score another goal.

- Team 1
- Team 2
- Floater

3. Endzone game

Split the group in half. Each team needs to pass the ball to their end person (who is standing in the endzone). No player can enter the endzone, except for the end person. Once a player has passed the ball to the end person, then they score a "goal" and then swap over with the end person. The first team to score 10 "goals" will win.
