

Gender Identity Research Paper

Gender Identity we might ask ourselves? Gender identity is our personal sense of what our own gender is. How a person feels and who they know themselves to be when it comes to their gender. Most of us were taught that there are only two genders man or women and two sexes male and female. However, there is a lot more to it than you might think. There are many different gender identities, including male, female, transgender, gender neutral, agender, pangender, third gender, and alot more. Even though in our society the genders that are usually more common based on someone's anatomy, which is the genitals they were born with.

There are many types of gender people feel that they personally fall on the scale between male and female. Most commonly people identify as male or female, but some fall in the middle or move throughout the scale. Some types of gender are male to female is when somebody that is assigned as a male at birth identifies as a female. Female to male is when somebody that is assigned as a female at birth identifies as a male. Gender fluid is moving between genders or having a fluctuating gender identity. Agender means not identifying with any gender. And there is still so much more to name but these are just some types.

Gender roles often tend to develop or start off in toddlers and children by certain ages. On or before their third birthday most all children can easily label themselves as either a girl or boy. By age four most children have a strong feeling of their gender identity. Throughout the time of, children learn gender role behavior, by learning 'things that boys do' or 'things that girls do.' The point is that all children learn to develop a clear view of themselves and their gender over time. Spectators have a tendency to judge little kids and how they act based on their gender.

More teenagers are not fitting into the usual genders (male or female) as they were before and that percentage is growing more and more. A study research a postdoctoral named Rider at the University of Minnesota's Program in Human Sexuality. For their research, Rider's team examined data from a 2016 survey of almost 81,000 Minnesota and asked the students in a school from grades 9th and 11th grades a question. "Do you consider yourself transgender, genderqueer, gender-fluid or unsure of your gender identification?" About 2.7% answered yes to the question. That number is higher than researchers expected. That's a big difference from the UCLA study, which was published in January 2017 and estimated that 0.7% of American teens ages 13 to 17 see them selfs as transgender. Rider's study is only in the state of Minnesota's but she is hoping to increase this study around the nation to get more accurate information.

Majority of people think that gender identity is the same thing as sexual orientation or sex and gender areas well but they are not. Gender identity is our personal feeling of what our own gender is eit
