An Introduction to Genetic Engineering, Life Sciences and the Law George Wei, 2002 The moral social economic and legal issues raised by work in the life sciences are immense These include the legal issues that concern the use and abuse of genetic information This book is an introductory survey of the relations between the life sciences and the law The Routledge Handbook of Animal Ethics Bob Fischer, 2019-12-06 There isn't one conversation about animal ethics Instead there are several important ones that are scattered across many disciplines This volume both surveys the field of animal ethics and draws professional philosophers graduate students and undergraduates more deeply into the discussions that are happening outside of philosophy departments To that end the volume contains more nonphilosophers than philosophers explicitly inviting scholars from other fields such as animal science ecology economics psychology law environmental science and applied biology among others to bring their own disciplinary resources to bear on matters that affect animals The Routledge Handbook of Animal Ethics is composed of 44 chapters all appearing in print here for the first time and organized into the following six sections I Thinking About Animals II Animal Agriculture and Hunting III Animal Research and Genetic Engineering IV Companion Animals V Wild Animals Conservation Management and Ethics VI Animal Activism The chapters are brief and they have been written in a way that is accessible to serious undergraduate students regardless of their field of study The volume covers everything from animal cognition to the state of current fisheries from genetic modification to intersection animal activism It is a resource designed for anyone interested in the moral issues that emerge from human interactions with animals Tech Notes, 1990 Regulation of Genome Editing in Human iPS Cells Hans-Georg Dederer, Gregor Frenken, 2022-05-23 The book provides a concise overview of currently applicable regulatory frameworks of states which are among the world leaders in research and development R D of cell and gene therapies Developments in genome editing are expected to lead to new possibilities for the treatment of hereditary diseases in humans The treatment of such often severe but hitherto incurable diseases can be based on genome edited induced pluripotent stem cells iPS cells Such treatments constitute combined cell gene therapies These therapies need to be governed by a regulatory framework which ensures quality safety and efficacy of the relevant therapeutic products On the other hand such regulations may retard product approval and impede R D Accordingly national regulations for therapies based on genome edited iPS cells are an important and as the case may be decisive factor for both researchers and industry regarding their decision where to locate their R D activities Therefore regulatory frameworks impact significantly on the competitiveness of states and their economies This is why a comparative analysis of laws and regulations of different countries matters Such a comparative legal analysis provides an important insight into regulatory concepts which in turn may inspire adjustments of or amendments to domestic legal regimes For this purpose experts present country reports on France Germany Japan South Korea Switzerland and the USA The reports on France and Germany also refer to the parameters and implications arising from pertinent EU law

This two-part handbook focuses on the work that the Agricultural Model Intercomparison and Improvement Project AgMIP accomplished using a new method, the AgMIP Regional Integrated Assessment Protocol, in Sub-Saharan Africa (SSA) and South Asia (SA) with funding from the UK Department for International Development. Through this research, AgMIP substantially improves the characterization and understanding of food security in SSA and SA and how it is affected by climate variability and change. The chapters in this handbook demonstrate how AgMIP has enhanced the capacity of developing country researchers and stakeholders to work together exploring and prioritizing adaptation to current and future climate stresses. Part 1 describes regional integrated assessment methods and analyses, while Part 2 presents the outcomes of farming system studies. The entire volume shows how AgMIP has established a public good protocol for Regional Integrated Assessments that improve the capability of developing countries to address climate change challenges. Technology And Social Change In Rural Areas Gene F Summers, 2019-07-11. The possibility of nuclear war, the failure of the Green Revolution, the capabilities of genetic engineering, and other actual and potential effects of technological innovations have created demands for a more humane application of technology. Addressing this issue, Technology and Social Change in Rural Areas is a clear assessment of the current state of affairs. The book begins with a discussion of the changing paradigms of technology adoption and diffusion, the dynamics of public resistance, and the question of social responsibility in an age of synthetic biology. In subsequent sections, the contributors assess the revolutionary effect of technology on agriculture worldwide and conclude that radically new public policies are essential to expose the transformations of rural life and communities that result from the localized effects of technology and its use as a weapon in world system politics, and critically examine the appropriate technology movement. The essays are presented to honor Professor Eugene A. Wilkening for his many pioneering and lasting contributions to the study of technology and rural social change. The book includes an intellectual biography of Professor Wilkening written by his long-time colleague and friend William H. Sewell. Rutgers Computer & Technology Law Journal, 1989.
