

Genetic Mapping and the Three-Point Testcross

A two-strand double crossover that spans the middle pair of alleles in a triple heterozygote results in a reciprocal exchange of the middle pair of alleles between the two participating chromatids.

Looking at the linked genes in corn:

- lz: lazy or prostrate growth
- gl: glossy leaf
- su: sugary endosperm

A cross is done using multiply heterozygous parental genotype:

$$\begin{array}{ccc} \underline{Lz} & \underline{Gl} & \underline{Su} \\ lz & gl & su \end{array} \times \begin{array}{l} \text{Homozygous} \\ \text{recessive (usually} \\ \text{not written)} \end{array}$$ reference sequence and its variants raw reads and haplotype reference panels provide a new perspective on QTL locations and potential molecular targets for plant breeding Similarly new approaches to marker trait association analyses such as quantitative trait locus sequencing QTL seq and quantitative trait gene sequencing QTG seq that are based on bulked segregant analysis BSA and whole genome resequencing will help accelerate QTL fine mapping and identification of the causal genes In conclusion the tools and strategies for MAS in modern plant breeding have been expanding in recent years By embracing a broad array of conventional and new molecular techniques modern plant breeding has a bright future in delivering new crop cultivars to keep our food fiber and biobased economy diverse and safe
