Light and Shadow in William Faulkner's "Light in August" Marie-Paule Leveque,1975 Ordered by Words Judith Lockyer,1991 William Faulkner created compelling worlds with his words but he repeatedly used his characters to warn against words Relying on Mikhail Bakhtin s theory of language as both the creation of its user and a social construct Judith Lockyer outlines Faulkner s discovery of the power and danger in language Five of Faulkner s characters Horace Benbow Quentin Compson Darl Bundren Isaac McCaslin and Gavin Stevens were endowed with a desire for the absolute inviolable word Faulkner both shares that desire and argues against it making the dialogue about language the subtext of all his novels Here this continuing dialogue is traced chronologically from Flags in the Dust Faulkner s third novel to A Fable a late novel here shown in a revealing new light Lockyer also connects Faulkner s ideas about language and narration to his social and thematic concerns particularly to America s legacy of racial strife This is a coherent convincing reading of Faulkner from the time he finds his true voice and subject in the South through the late novels

Light in August Heidi Hardin,1980 William Faulkner

François Pitavy, Light in August William Faulkner William Faulkner, 1932 The novel is set in the American South in the 1930s during the time of Prohibition and Jim Crow laws that legalized racial segregation in the South It begins with the journey of Lena Grove a young pregnant white woman from Doane s Mill Alabama who is trying to find Lucas Burch the father of her unborn child He has been fired from his job in Doane s Mill and moved to Mississippi promising to send word to her when he has a new job Not hearing from Burch and harassed by her older brother for her illegitimate pregnancy Lena walks and hitchhikes to Jefferson Mississippi a town in Faulkner s fictional Yoknapatawpha County There she expects to find Lucas working at another planing mill ready to marry her Those who help her along her four week trek are skeptical that Lucas Burch will be found or that he will keep his promise when she catches up with him When she arrives in Jefferson Lucas is there but he has changed his name to Joe Brown Looking for Lucas sweet trusting Lena meets shy mild mannered Byron Bunch who falls in love with Lena but feels honor bound to help her find Joe Brown Thoughtful and quietly religious Byron is superior to Brown in every way but his shyness prevents him from revealing his feelings to Lena The novel then switches to the second plot strand the story of Lucas Burch Joe Brown s partner Joe Christmas The surly psychopathic Christmas has been on the run for years ever since at least injuring perhaps even killing his strict Presbyterian adopted father Although he has light skin Christmas suspects that he is of African American ancestry Consumed with rage he is a bitter outcast who wanders between black and white society constantly provoking fights with blacks and whites alike Christmas comes to Jefferson three years prior to the central events of the novel and gets a job at the mill where Byron and later Joe Brown work The job at the mill is a cover for Christmas s bootlegging operation which is illegal under Prohibition He has a sexual relationship with Joanna Burden an older woman who descended from a formerly powerful abolitionist family whom the town despises as carpetbaggers Though their relationship is passionate at first Joanna begins menopause and turns to religion which frustrates and angers Christmas At the end of her relationship with Christmas Joanna tries to force him at gunpoint to kneel and pray Joanna is murdered soon after her throat is slit and she is nearly decapitated
