Genetics pGLO Lab Report

Introduction:

The purpose of this lab experiment is to transform bacteria with a gene that codes for Green Fluorescent Protein. This is known as genetic transformation in which a gene is inserted into an organism in order to change the organism's trait. In this experiment, the green fluorescent protein, which is involved in bioluminescent jellyfish, is moved from one organism to another with the aid of plasmid. pGLO plasmids encode for the gene green fluorescent protein and a gene for resistance to the antibiotic ampicillin. By the end of the lab, it will be clear what plates had transformed cells and grew pGLO depending on their medium. The true purpose of the lab is complete genetic transformation and determine to what degree of success did we genetically alter an organism.
