Developing International EFL/ESL Scholarly Writers Donna Bain Butler, 2015-03-30 This study had a research purpose and a pedagogical purpose. Research disclosed the dynamic, changing nature of learner internal and learner external variables that influence strategic competence for developing EFL/ESL writers. This competence was found necessary for international graduate students to move from writer-centered learning to reader-centered communication. The research instruments proved to be practical tools for guiding learners' processes of learning and writing a scholarly paper or article and avoiding plagiarism. The implication for teachers and program administrators is a systematic approach for developing self-regulation control in EFL/ESL writing. The first part of the book reports on the mixed methods quantitative and qualitative research. The second part gives an in-depth report of the 6 cases used in the research. The third part presents tools for systematically developing self-regulation in scholarly and academic writing, with a student and teacher checklist for formative assessment that are valid and reliable, and a model syllabus for teachers that can be adapted across disciplines and genres. These tools deal with learning strategies and their applications to writing and writing instruction.
