Reading: Genetic Variation in Cornelian Worksho and genetic variation in genetics (complete each of the following questions, describing your understanding of the concepts discussed in the lesson)

1. Match each of the following changes in DNA sequence structure to its definition:

A. Deletion

B. Duplication

C. Inversion

D. Translocation

a. a section of a chromosome is inserted

b. a piece of a chromosome is deleted

c. a large section of a chromosome has moved (inverted) to a different part of the genome (chromosome)

d. a section of a chromosome appears to be on one chromosome but is really on another

2. How many genetically different gametes can be produced from a diploid cell with four chromosomes pairs? Describe your answer.

There are 16 genetically different gametes that can be produced because in a diploid cell there are four chromosome pairs. Each pair can contribute either one or two chromosomes to the gametes.

3. Although you will learn a classification of mutations this semester, you recognize that some mutations cause the loss of function of a protein. For example, both color and eye color mutations cause the loss of function together?

Yes, because a mutation together can cause the loss of function of a protein. For example, a mutation in the gene for eye color can cause the loss of function of the protein that causes eye color. A mutation in the gene for eye color can cause the loss of function of the protein that causes eye color.

4. Describe the alignment of chromosomes during prophase I, write the equations:

Chromosomes I and II are aligned and chromosomes III and IV are aligned. This is a diploid cell because it has two sets of chromosomes. The chromosomes are aligned in pairs.

5. How does nondisjunction lead to chromosomal abnormalities? Describe two types of genetic disorders that can result from nondisjunction.
