Hydrologic Cycle

Reading Passage

Read the passage carefully before answering the questions that follow.

The Hydrologic Cycle is a Natural Process

The hydrologic cycle is a continuous process that moves water around the planet. It is a natural process that is essential for life on Earth. The cycle is driven by the sun, which provides the energy for evaporation. Water evaporates from the surface of the ocean, lakes, and rivers, and from plants and animals. The water vapor then rises into the atmosphere, where it cools and condenses into clouds. The clouds release the water as precipitation in the form of rain or snow. The water then falls to the ground, where it can infiltrate the soil and become groundwater, or it can flow over the surface of the land and into the oceans. The cycle is a continuous process that is essential for life on Earth.
