

Topic	Culture, language and identity: an investigation exploring influences of assimilation on contemporary indigenous music and cultural identity
Research question	To what extent has the Norwegianization of Sami culture changed the significance of "joik" as an expression of Sami identity through the modernization of the music?
Approach	By investigating this topic on a local scale and linking it to broader patterns of global indigenous assimilation, the essay examines the consequences of the Norwegianization of the Sami people. Framed within an interdisciplinary approach, referring to social and cultural anthropology and global politics, the essay applies key concepts of both DP subjects and draws from secondary sources and ethnographic interviews as primary data. An integrative synthesis sheds light on this issue of global significance.

Topic	Health and development: multiple sclerosis and latitude
Research question	To what extent do geographical factors play a role in the distribution of multiple sclerosis cases in Canada and Iran?
Approach	The essay challenges the suggested theory that MS is associated with high latitudes by looking at recent studies of Iran. Genetic factors and vitamin deficiency (biology), migration and environment (geography) are evaluated to enhance understanding

Topic	Health and development: economic growth and obesity
Research question	How has globalization contributed to dietary changes and obesity in developed and developing countries?
Approach	The essay considers metabolic systems and the role of the endocrine system (biology) and recent qualitative and quantitative changes in diet in Liberia, Brazil and the USA to measure energy imbalance and a nutrition transition resulting from globalization (geography/economics).
