Faller tells the compelling story of a movement that reclaimed the stereotypes attached to the idea of Frauenkunst or women's art. She shows how generational struggles and diverging artistic philosophies of art, craft, and design drove the conservative and radical wings of Austria's women's art movement apart and explores the ways female artists and craftswomen reinterpreted and extended the Klimt Group's ideas in the interwar years. Brandow Faller draws a direct connection to the themes that impelled the better-known explosion of feminist art in 1970s America. In this provocative story of a Viennese modernism that never disavowed its ornamental decorative roots, she gives careful attention to key primary sources including photographs and reviews of early twentieth-century exhibitions and archival records of school curricula and personnel. Engagingly written and featuring more than eighty representative illustrations, The Female Secession recaptures the radical potential of what Fanny Harlfinger Zakucka referred to as works from women's hands. It will appeal to art historians working in the decorative arts and modernism as well as historians of Secession-era Vienna and gender history.
