Interview Guide For School Principal:

Information Technology Usage in Metro Manila Public and Private Schools Maria Rodrigo, 2003-04-14 Both public and private schools in the Philippines are using information technology IT as a tool to improve teaching and learning While both government and private sector initiatives indicate national commitment to IT in education there is little up to date information on how extensively the Philippines are using computers and for what purposes The researcher s goals were to determine the extent to which Metro Manila public and private schools used IT and to determine how these results compared with analogous data on schools in other developing and developed countries The researcher gathered data with mail in questionnaires adapted from the International Association for the Evaluation of Educational Achievement IEA onsite visits and follow up telephone interviews The researcher also compared her results with those from IEA surveyed countries The researcher determined that actual uses of IT did not meet schools curricular goals Although school officials wanted IT to individualize instruction promote active learning and improve student achievement in actual practice schools used computers to teach computer literacy productivity tools and programming In terms of infrastructure the researcher found that schools in Metro Manila had the poorest student to computer ratio in comparison to schools in IEA surveyed countries Metro Manila students access to peripherals was also poor Software selections were limited to productivity tools Students in Metro Manila primary schools like their counterparts in IEA surveyed countries had limited Internet access A comparison of results from public and private schools revealed that public and private schools shared many educational goals regarding the use of IT However the realization of these goals was uneven Private schools had been using computers for a greater number of years than public schools Private schools had lower student to computer and student to printer ratios They also had greater Internet access Furthermore private schools tended to expose their students to computers at practically all educational levels The study provided baseline data that was not previously available The researcher identifies the need for similar studies with greater geographic scope or of a longitudinal nature deeper investigations of curricular gaps or policy issues and the development of instructional software for Filipino specific subject areas and economic reforms and the resultant social transformations On the other hand it reveals persistent problems in moral education caused by political stresses and tight state control To explain these tensions Power and Moral Education in China analyzes the characteristics of power relationships in school moral education curriculum goal setting content and pedagogy selection and implementation The ultimate purpose is to identify not only what factors impact Chinese moral education curriculum decision making at the school level but also how and why Through a multiple case study conducted during 2008 in three schools in Shenzhen City and based on four major data collection instruments observation interview questionnaire and document review Wangbei Ye analyzes how power relationships have evolved in school moral education and how and why school power affects school moral education Contrary to the common belief that Chinese schools are passively impacted by external forces in moral education curriculum development this book suggests that school power is a semi emancipatory relationship that acts as a major force shaping moral education This means that although both the Chinese Communist Party and the state are positioned to control schools and moral education schools nonetheless have the power to either negotiate for more influence or partly emancipate themselves by collaborating with other external forces responding to grass root needs empowering school teachers and adjusting internal school management style This helps to explain the influence of Chinese schools in moral education and suggests a broader theory of power relationships in curriculum

Emotions and Leadership in Organizations and Educational Institutes Osman Titrek,Anna Stavicka,Ana Campina,Gozde Sezen-Gultekin,Carlos Francisco De Sousa Reis,2023-11-28 Emotion management is an important source of social capital and synergy for organizations Managers have a great role in the creation of this synergy A manager who can cope with their emotions indirectly contributes to organizational effectiveness This situation is especially important in human oriented organizations providing services rather than goods such as educational institutions Leadership is a process of social influence which maximizes the efforts of others towards the achievement of a goal Leadership stems from social influence rather than authority or power In terms of system approach the input output process and feedback of educational organizations are always related to human behaviors Therefore organizations must address the nature of human beings in all of their managerial processes Although organizations in which people are at the foreground try to continue their functioning on a rational and formal basis throughout the managerial process they sometimes have to manage emotional and informal phenomena In this case there is a need for managers and school leaders who can shape the rationale in line with the requirements of human nature What is expected from this administrator is that they do not ignore human needs and emotions while providing the management of educational institutions For this reason these managers should be leaders rather than executives who only work in a formal framework of organization management Moreover principals and teachers should also be leaders in all educational processes Emotions are the main catalyst of positive organizational culture Leaders can create an effective organizational culture with the main source of positive emotions between employers Positive emotions also motivate employees for organizational purposes If a leader wishes to create and maintain an effective organizational culture it is essential to support positive behavior and emotional climate in their institutes and schools Leaders school managers and teachers therefore need to develop emotion management abilities Educational organizations need to shape their organizational culture climate and psychology to support their leaders in efficiently managing their employees emotions Up to now this topic has been usually addressed as the main catalyst and a sub dimension of emotional intelligence Moreover current evidence classifies social and empathy skills as other sub dimensions of emotional intelligence For this reason this collection of peer reviewed articles will draw attention to the contemporary term emotional management and contribute to educational fields by means of exploring the relationship between emotions and leadership
