Implementation of an Android Framework for USB storage access without root rights Magnus Jahnen, 2016-07-22 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2014 in the subject Computer Science Software grade 1.0 Technical University of Munich language English abstract This bachelor thesis describes the implementation of an Android framework to access mass storage devices over the USB interface of a smartphone. First, the basics of USB, i.e. interfaces, endpoints, and USB On-the-go, and accessing USB devices via the official Android API are discussed. Next, the USB mass storage class is explained, which was designed by the USB IF to access mobile mass storage like USB pen drives or external HDDs. For communication with mass storage devices, most important are the Bulk-Only Transfer and the SCSI Transparent Command Set. Furthermore, file systems for accessing directories and files are described. This thesis focuses on the FAT32 file system from Microsoft because it is the most commonly used file system on such devices After the theory part it is time to look at the implementation of the framework In this section the first concern is the purpose in general Then the architecture of the framework and the actual implementation are presented Important parts are discussed in detail The thesis finishes with an overview of the test results on various Android devices a short conclusion and an outlook to future developments Moreover the current status of the developed framework is visualized
