An Ed-Tech Tragedy? Mark West, 2025-10-10 The COVID 19 pandemic pushed education from schools to educational technologies at a pace and scale with no historical precedent For hundreds of millions of students formal learning became fully dependent on technology whether internet connected digital devices televisions or radios An Ed Tech Tragedy examines the numerous adverse and unintended consequences of the shift to ed tech It documents how technology first solutions left a global majority of learners behind and details the many ways education was diminished even when technology was available and worked as intended Using tragedy as a metaphor and borrowing the organization of a three act theatrical play the book shows how technology first modes of learning introduced novel health and safety risks handed significant control of public education to for profit companies expanded invasive digital surveillance and carried detrimental environmental repercussions in addition to adversely impacting educational access equity quality and outcomes in most contexts Dedicated sections consider alternative and less technology reliant educational responses to COVID 19 disruptions that had the potential to be more inclusive and equitable The analysis further explains how pandemic models of learning are rippling beyond school closures and influencing the future of education Holistically the work invites readers to reconsider a turbulent chapter in education history and reexamine the purposes and roles of technology in education

Strategizing Societal Transformation Vladimir L. Kvint, Sergey D. Bodrunov, 2022-11-11 This book is dualistic in its nature it seeks to combine two approaches to the analysis and assessment of societal development prospects and to strengthen the capacity of each The book describes the strategic development of regional economies as well as worldwide trends The theory and methodology of strategy should extend much further and deeper than what is obvious to everyone Strategy is aimed at the effective movement of the object of strategizing to the reality that does not exist and will only begin to form within a certain period of time which is determined by long term prospects One approach has at its core managing the information and technological development of society its social and economic transformation through developing and implementing a particular strategy with a concept or doctrine of the planned guidelines as its first stage Strategizing the information technological transformation of society is proved to be most effective when it covers long term development periods which will lead to significant and even fundamental changes in the values and priorities of socio economic development Another approach described in this volume which is implemented in conjunction with strategizing is connected to the conceptual understanding of long term development The concept of noonomy represents a complex theory of transformation based on technological change and the resulting shifts in social organization It demonstrates not only trends but also qualitative social shifts to which these transformations lead In this way the approach put forward in the theory of noonomy makes it possible to anticipate and evaluate distant horizons of social development and to grasp the transitions from one stage to the next Employing the concept of noonomy in the processes of strategy is a prognostic phase immediately preceding the processes of strategy and creating a reference point for them This book represents the unique strategy concepts V L Kvint and noonomy S D Bodrunov have been brought together The idea of uniting the authors views on the problems of civilizational development has a common scientific platform the definition of long term goals and the choice of economic and strategic tools to achieve them This book summarizes the authors main approaches to the issues at hand to facilitate the applied problem set by the authors which is to demonstrate the productivity of synthesizing these approaches to the study of societal development patterns for subsequent use in their theoretical and practical implementation The Deal,2010
