Brown, 2019-03-27 Yoga and mindfulness activities with roots in Asian traditions such as Hinduism or Buddhism have been brought into growing numbers of public schools since the 1970s While they are commonly assumed to be secular educational tools Candy Gunther Brown asks whether religion is truly left out of the equation in the context of public school curricula An expert witness in four legal challenges Brown scrutinized unpublished trial records informant interviews and legal precedents as well as insider documents some revealing promoters of Vedic victory or stealth Buddhism for public school children The legal challenges are fruitful cases for Brown's analysis of the concepts of religious and secular While notions of what makes something religious or secular are crucial to those who study religion they have special significance in the realm of public and legal norms They affect how people experience their lives raise their children and navigate educational systems The question of religion in public education Brown shows is no longer a matter of jurisprudence focused largely on the establishment of a Protestant Bible or nonsectarian prayer Instead it now reflects an increasingly diverse American religious landscape Reconceptualizing secularization as transparency and religious voluntarism Brown argues for an opt in model for public school programs Handbook of Research on Digital Tools for Writing Instruction in K-12 Settings

Anderson, Rebecca S., Mims, Clif, 2014-04-30 More emphasis is being placed on writing instruction in K 12 schools than ever before With the growing number of digital tools in the classroom it is important that K 12 teachers learn how to use these tools to effectively teach writing in all content areas The Handbook of Research on Digital Tools for Writing Instruction in K 12 Settings will provide research about how students use digital tools to write both in and out of school settings as well as discuss issues and concerns related to the use of these learning methods This publication is beneficial to educators professionals and researchers working in the field of K 12 and teacher education Intellectual Property in Asia Paul Goldstein, Joseph Straus, 2009-01-07 Introduction Intellectual property rights foster innovation But if as it surely does intellectual property means not just intellectual property rules the law of patents copyrights trademarks designs trade secrets and unfair competition but also intellectual property institutions the courts police regulatory agencies and collecting social ties that administer these rules what are the respective roles of intellectual property rules and institutions in fostering creativity And to what extent do forces outside intellectual property rules and institutions economics culture politics history also contribute to innovation Is it possible that these other factors so overwhelm the impact of intellectual property regimes that it is futile to expect adjustments in intellectual property rules and institutions to alter patterns of innovation and ultimately economic development It was to address these questions in the most dynamic region of the world today Asia that we invited leading country experts to contribute studies that not only summarize the current condition of intellectual property regimes in countries ranging in economic size from Cambodia to Japan and in population from Laos to China but that also describe the historical sources of these laws and institutions the realities of intellectual property enforcement in the marketplace and the political economic educational and scientific infrastructures that sustain and direct investment in innovative activity A Mark Lane Express ,1898 Journal of Education ,1892 The Mark Lane Express, Agricultural Journal &c ,1898 Behavior & Society ,1986 The United States Catalog Mary Burnham,Carol Hurd,1928 Sociological Abstracts Leo P.
