Life Orientation September 2012 Memorandum:

The Lavender Bans Dorian Rhea Debussy, 2026-03-10 There is a long history of discrimination against LGBTQ people in the American military and intelligence services from vice squad stings during World War I to the Lavender Scare of the early Cold War through Don't Ask, Don't Tell and the Trump administration's transgender ban. How have the rationales for anti-LGBTQ policies changed over time? When and why did these policies shift? What does anti-LGBTQ discrimination reveal about the US military, American political institutions, and broader themes in queer history? The Lavender Bans is a comprehensive account of the evolution of anti-LGBTQ policies from World War I to the present. Dorian Rhea Debussy, a leading expert on LGBTQ history in the US military, examines six distinct periods of exclusion over the course of a century, tracing continuities and changes alongside the growth of the national security state. Bringing together interdisciplinary scholarship and close analysis of archival documents, she offers new insights into the policies affecting LGBTQ people in the armed forces. Meticulously researched and rich in detail, The Lavender Bans sheds light on a long and troubling history with deep contemporary relevance, as exclusion of transgender people continues. It is an engaging, important, and timely book for a range of readers, including scholars, students, policy makers, military personnel, and people affected by anti-LGBTQ discrimination.

State of democracy, human rights and the rule of law 2021 Council of Europe, 2021-05-11 Democracy is in distress. The Secretary General of the 47-nation Council of Europe, Marija Pejčević, has highlighted a clear and worrying degree of democratic backsliding in her latest annual report on the state of democracy, human rights, and the rule of law across the continent. In many cases, the problems we are seeing predate the coronavirus pandemic, but there is no doubt that legitimate actions taken by national authorities in response to COVID-19 have compounded the situation. The danger is that our democratic culture will not fully recover, said the Secretary General. Our member states now face a choice: They can continue to permit or facilitate this democratic backsliding, or they can work together to reverse this trend, to reinforce and renew European democracy, and to create an environment in which human rights and the rule of law flourish. This is the right option for the 830 million people who live in the Council of Europe area. Based on the findings of different Council of Europe bodies, including the European Court of Human Rights, the Secretary General's report assesses recent developments in areas including political institutions and judicial independence, freedom of expression and association, human dignity, anti-discrimination, and democratic participation. The report encourages member states to use existing and future Council of Europe mechanisms to address many of the challenges identified, on the basis of the following key principles: National authorities should return to fundamental democratic principles and recommit to Council of Europe legal standards, including the implementation of judgments from the European Court of Human Rights. Member states should fully embrace the multilateralism embodied by the Council of Europe for more than 70 years. COVID-related restrictions and measures must not only be necessary and proportionate but also limited in duration. National authorities should embrace democratic culture.
