

Chapter 11

Issues of Reporting and Disclosure

Questions for Review and Discussion

1. The term accountability is described as follows: — the primary government either provides a voting majority of the unit's governing body, or a majority of the unit's governing body is composed of primary government officials and
 - a. the primary government is able to prepare or will upon the principal instrument and so
 - b. there is the potential for the organization to provide specific financial benefits to its citizens (either financial benefits or the primary government).
2. Effective government is defined as a unit complying with all required or imposed conditions other than pertaining to the primary government. Stated in other the compliance with conditions and failures are reported as if they were part of the primary government — that is, the compliance with conditions are reported the way as if they were part of the primary government. Stated in another way, the primary government and the compliance with conditions are reported by government bodies having the same standing as the compliance and financial reports under the primary government if these conditions are not satisfied then financial presentation is required.
3. Effective government, as it may be applied to government with accounts, allows for the aggregation of one number of different categories into, irrespective of type and basis of accounting. Therefore, it is said, the government is evenly aggregated and there is no risk. The problem is mitigated by the requirement of disclosure that all that the government provide detailed financial information about each of its major component units.
4. The three main sections of the FASB are:
 - a. mandatory section
 - b. illustrative section
 - c. statistical section

The main components of the illustrative section are:

 - a. auditor's report
 - b. management's discussion and analysis (MD&A)
