Explain Nfsas Clearly:

Remote Possibilities Amy Jane Conger, 2005 One World, Many Knowledges Halvorsen, Tar, Vale, Peter, 2016-05-12

Various forms of academic co operation criss cross the modern university system in a bewildering number of ways from the open exchange of ideas and knowledge to the sharing of research results and frank discussions about research challenges Embedded in these scholarly networks is the question of whether a global template for the management of both higher education and national research organisations is necessary and if so must institutions slavishly follow the high flown language of the global knowledge society or risk falling behind in the ubiquitous university ranking system Or are there alternatives that can achieve a better more ethically inclined world Basing their observations on their own experiences an interesting mix of seasoned scholars and new voices from southern Africa and the Nordic region offer critical perspectives on issues of inter and cross regional academic co operation Several of the chapters also touch on the evolution of the higher education sector in the two regions An absorbing and intelligent study this book will be invaluable for anyone interested in the strategies scholars are using to adapt to the interconnectedness of the modern world It offers fresh insights into how academics are attempting to protect the spaces in which they can freely and openly debate the challenges they face while aiming to transform higher education and foster scholarly collaboration The Southern African Nordic Centre SANORD is a partnership of higher education institutions from Denmark Finland Iceland Norway Sweden Botswana Namibia Malawi South Africa Zambia and Zimbabwe SANORD s primary aim is to promote multilateral research co operation on matters of importance to the development of both regions Our activities are based on the values of democracy equity and mutually beneficial academic engagement Social Justice and Education in the 21st Century Willie Pearson Jr., Vijay Reddy, 2021-04-10 The world is not an equal place There are high and low income countries and high and low income households For each group there are differential educational opportunities leading to differential educational outcomes and differential labor market opportunities This pattern often reproduces the privileges and inequalities of groups in a society This book explores this differentiation in education from a social justice lens Comparing the United States and South Africa this book analyzes each country s developmental thinking on education from human capital and human rights approaches in both primary and higher education The enclosed contributions draw from different disciplines including legal studies sociology psychology computer science and public policy The Youth Dividend Jan H. Hofmeyr, 2012 Reflections of South African University Leaders: 1981 to 2014 Council on Higher Education, 2016-03-17 Much has been written about the ever growing demands on university leadership worldwide in the face of increasingly complex changes and challenges from within the academy and beyond However as we are reminded by Johan Muller in the Introduction to this book there are particular features of time and place that also throw up unique problems It is precisely time and place that make this set of reflections by university leaders quite remarkable and distinguishes it from the many biographies to be found in the literature on higher education leadership In the main this collection spans two decades the 1990s and 2000s of unprecedented levels of change in South African higher education Leaders in universities as well as those responsible for higher education policy in the government and associated statutory bodies had no neat script to work off nor manuals or prescripts of good leadership or practice Instead there was palpable excitement about collectively imagining and nurturing a new post apartheid higher education system which would contribute to the social and economic development needs of the country the deepening of democracy and which would also be globally relevant Most reflections touch on the coalface of leadership which is the face to face interactional dimension dealing with staff with students with council chairs What comes through clearly is the importance of what are sometimes called people skills In these accounts this is not simply presented as a human relations aptitude for a number of reasons first of which is the special nature of universities and their occupants More than one points out the special challenge of managing the talented people that are academics and their inbuilt distaste for bureaucracy their reluctance to be managed or told what to do The message here is consistently one of needing to be completely open with academics the importance of maintaining the distinction between collegial and executive management avoiding managerialism and the critical importance of winning and holding their trust The inspiration for this collection arose in late 2013 in the Council on Higher Education s CHE Monitoring and Evaluation Directorate the directorate responsible for conducting research on the higher education landscape and monitoring the state of the sector They noted that conditions besetting universities had grown increasingly complex both globally but more especially locally and the question arose how had this altered the challenges to university leadership over the period between the new political dispensation and the second decade of the new millennium More particularly how had leaders with a proven track record of visionary and strong leadership during this period faced these challenges How did they see the main changes that needed dealing with What challenges did these changes pose and how were they successfully overcome What did they think looking back were the main constituents of successful leadership and management What wisdom could be distilled for posterity The Directorate decided to invite a range of vice chancellors and senior academic leaders who had completed their terms of office to contribute to a project that set out to gather such reflections and compile them into a publication
