Historical Archaeologies of Transhumance across Europe Eugene Costello, Eva Svensson, 2018-03-05 Transhumance is a form of pastoralism that has been practised around the world since animals were first domesticated Such seasonal movements have formed an important aspect of many European farming systems for several thousand years although they have declined markedly since the nineteenth century Ethnographers and geographers have long been involved in recording transhumant practices and in the last two decades archaeologists have started to add a new material dimension to the subject This volume brings together recent advances in the study of European transhumance during historical times from Sweden to Spain Romania to Ireland and beyond that even Newfoundland While the focus is on the archaeology of seasonal sites used by shepherds and cowherds the contributions exhibit a high degree of interdisciplinarity Documentary cartographic ethnographic and palaeoecological evidence all play a part in the examination of seasonal movement and settlement in medieval and post medieval landscapes Notwithstanding the obvious diversity across Europe in terms of livestock distances travelled and socio economic context an extended introduction to the volume shows that cross cutting themes are now emerging including mobility gendered herding collective land use the agency of non elite people and competition for grazing and markets The book will appeal not only to archaeologists but to historians
