TOP 10 APPLICATION TIPS

- 1. Make contact. Get to know key people at the universities you're applying to before you start your application. This could be through a virtual open day or by reaching out to a current student via email or social media.
- 2. Grab their interest from the beginning. When it comes to writing your personal statement, be sure to start with a strong hook that grabs the attention of the admissions officer.
- 3. Give lots of examples. Don't just list your achievements, but provide specific examples of how you've overcome challenges or achieved success. Use the STAR method (Situation, Task, Action, Result) to structure your examples.
- 4. Make it personal. If you're applying to a specific university, show that you've done your research and explain why you're interested in that institution. Tailor your application to the university's values and strengths.
- 5. Choose referees carefully. Your referees should be people who know you well and can provide a detailed and positive reference. Choose referees who can speak to your academic abilities, your character, and your potential.
- 6. Practise and proofread. Do a dry run of your application to make sure you're comfortable with the process. Proofread your application carefully to ensure it's free of errors and typos.
- 7. Include relevant extracurriculars. While your academic achievements are the most important part of your application, your extracurricular activities can also provide valuable insights into your character and interests.
- 8. Sell yourself. Don't be afraid to highlight your strengths and achievements. You want to stand out from the crowd and show that you're a well-rounded individual.
- 9. Think about structure. Your personal statement should have a clear structure, with an introduction, body paragraphs, and a conclusion. Make sure your writing is clear, concise, and easy to read.
- 10. Don't miss deadlines. Make a list of all the deadlines for your application and ensure you submit everything on time. Missing a deadline can result in your application being rejected.
