The Communist Party of Indonesia, 1951-1963 Donald Hindley,1966 Mohammed, Marx, and Marhaen Jeanne S. Mintz,1965 Monthly Indonesian Press Survey ,1959 Television, Nation, and Culture in Indonesia Philip Kitley,2000 The culture of television in Indonesia began with its establishment in 1962 as a public broadcasting service From that time through the deregulation of television broadcasting in 1990 and the establishment of commercial channels television can be understood Philip Kitley argues as a part of the New Order s national culture project designed to legitimate an idealized Indonesian national cultural identity But Professor Kitley suggests that it also has become a site for the contestation of elements of the New Order s cultural policies Based on his studies he further speculates on the increasingly significant role that television is destined to play as a site of cultural and political struggle

Legal Evolution and Political Authority in Indonesia Daniel S. Lev,2000-09-14 For nearly forty years following the collapse of Indonesia s parliamentary system Indonesia s once independent legal institutions were transformed into dedicated instruments of a powerful elite and allowed to sink into a deep mire of corruption and malfeasance Legal process was devastated far beyond the capacity of any simple effort at reconstruction by post Suharto governments Indonesia s problems in this respect surpass those of other countries in the region compelled by economic crisis to re examine institutional structures The works reprinted in this collection constitute a case study over time of legal decay and the rise of reform interests in one of the most complex countries in the world Written during a period of more than thirty years beginning in the early 1960s the essays trace several themes in the legal history of modern Indonesia They make clear however that legal history is seldom that alone but rather like law itself is largely derivative fundamentally imbedded in the interest ideas purposes and contentions of local political social and economic power

Taking Conspiracy Theories Seriously Matthew R. X. Dentith,2018-11-16 The contributors to this volume argue that whilst there is a commonplace superstition conspiracy theories are examples of bad beliefs and that the kind of people who believe conspiracy theories are typically irrational many conspiracy theories are rational to believe the members of the Dewey Commission were right to say that the Moscow Trials of the 1930s were a sham Woodward and Bernstein were correct to think that Nixon was complicit in the conspiracy to deny any wrongdoing in the Watergate Hotel break in and if we either accept the terrorist events of 9 11 were committed by Al Qaeda or that the Bush Administration was responsible then it seems we are endorsing some theory about a conspiracy to commit an act of terror on American soil As such there is no reason to reject conspiracy theories sui generis This volume challenges the prima facie that conspiracy theories are irrational beliefs arguing that we should treat conspiracy theories and the phenomena of conspiracy theories seriously It presents fresh perspectives from the wider philosophical sociological and psychological community on what is becoming an issue of increasing relevance in our time
