

QUESTION

Fastest descent time The cycloid is the curve traced by a point on the rim of a rolling wheel. Imagine a wire shaped like an inverted cycloid (see figure). A bead sliding down this wire without friction has some remarkable properties. Among all wire shapes, the cycloid is the shape that produces the fastest descent time (see the Guided Project The Amazing Cycloid for more about this brachistochrone property). It can be shown that the descent time between any two points $0 \leq a \leq b \leq \pi$ on the curve is

$$\text{descent time} = \int_a^b \sqrt{\frac{1 - \cos t}{g(\cos a - \cos t)}} dt$$

, where g is the acceleration due to gravity, $t = 0$ corresponds to the top of the wire, and $t = \pi$ corresponds to the lowest point on the wire. (FIGURE CANT COPY) a. Find the descent time on the interval $[a, b]$ by making the substitution $u = \cos t$. Show that when $b = \pi$, the descent time is the same for all values of a ; that is, the descent time to the bottom of the wire is the same for all starting points.

Teaching Computing Unplugged in Primary Schools Helen Caldwell, Neil Smith, 2016-10-18 Teaching primary computing without computers The Computing curriculum is a challenge for primary school teachers The realities of primary school resources mean limited access to computer hardware But computing is about more than computers Important aspects of the fundamental principles and concepts of computer science can be taught without any hardware Children can learn to analyse problems and computational terms and apply computational thinking to solve problems without turning on a computer This book shows you how you can teach computing through unplugged activities It provides lesson examples and everyday activities to help teachers and pupils explore computing concepts in a concrete way accelerating their understanding and grasp of key ideas such as abstraction logic algorithms and data representation The unplugged approach is physical and collaborative using kinaesthetic learning to help make computing concepts more meaningful and memorable This book will help you to elevate your teaching and your children's learning of computing beyond the available hardware It focuses on the building blocks of understanding required for computation thinking
