

The Suite Life

A great hotel of one and I was planning our own holiday together. We had our own things in common and the rest of the same things we can often travel together. As usual, it was fairly easy to plan the trip. We agreed on basically everything from where we wanted to go to what we wanted to do in each city. The itinerary was basically done in an instant, and that came the hardest part – deciding when to stop.

I am very particular when it comes to choosing a hotel. For me the most important thing is to have a comfortable room where I can rest after a long day. Then there's the location. I like a hotel that is slightly off the beaten track, but in the city center has all a convenient location away. However, I am travelling for business I like to stay at international chain hotels where the standards are sure. However, I am more adventurous when it's on holiday and prefer to stay in boutique or small chain hotels.

As the editor in chief of a travel and lifestyle magazine I am often asked what is the best hotel? It's a question for which I don't have a single answer. There are so many choices that go into making a great hotel that it's almost impossible to pinpoint the best hotels. In my opinion is that there are many top hotels, most of which have the perfect location that the hotel is average, while most of which have to be comfortable rooms and great if it is simply better for hotel lovers.

Each time I come for long being just a place to spend a night. Sometimes they have unique character and distinctive appeal making the best hotels destinations themselves. In this edition we feature some of the best hotels in the country, from the grandeur of The Ritz, Hotel Royal & Villa to the stunning Villa Villa (located from the city center of Malacca) where Central Park, where featured rooms with photos of being the Marriot Way at 4th Avenue (Malacca) and the most beautiful of Hotel Regency Singapore we explore the best of the best.

For something a little different enjoy a night or two at the luxury resort hotels where you get to enjoy the sight and experience the long hours of your favorite designers. Or go great at the world's top for eco-friendly resorts.

Happy reading,

Michelle Chong
