personalisation of the user interface in e commerce based on collected data on customer behaviour While product recommendation systems are widely used for this purpose today they do not allow for a comprehensive adaptation of the layout to different user groups The proposed approach is based on the conclusion that since e commerce customers are different the user interface should also be different To make this possible several components need to be combined which together allow the design of the online shop to be automatically or expertly adapted to the customer s choices and behaviour It presents and discusses a framework that allows data to be collected processed and used to optimise UI variants for generated customer segments The proposed approach has been verified in practice and further developed on this basis so that the reader is presented with a solution that is not riddled with baby age problems and the limitations and challenges identified are described and commented on in detail Typical e commerce systems currently have a single UI for all customers The implementation of multi variant UIs therefore represents an opportunity for companies to create a marketing advantage by addressing the personalisation trends in e commerce The book is intended for those responsible for developing e commerce platform and user interfaces for web based systems as well as individuals interested in practical applications of machine learning in business
