Most people are aware that their beliefs influence their actions and that changing their beliefs can lead to different results. However, what many people don't realize is just how powerful beliefs can be in shaping our lives. Our beliefs act as filters, determining what we see and don't see, what we pay attention to and what we ignore. They also affect how we interpret the events that do occur, affecting how they make us feel. As a result, our beliefs play a major role in determining the kind of life we live. If we want to change our lives, then, it is essential that we change our beliefs.

Emotions and Beliefs Nico H. Frijda, Antony S. R. Manstead, Sacha Bem, 2000-10-12 Few people would question nowadays that emotions influence beliefs but until recently little scientific research has been done on exactly how this effect takes place This important new book with contributions from some of the leading figures in the study of emotion explores the relationship between emotions and beliefs from a number of different psychological perspectives Combining theory with research it seeks to develop coherent theoretical principles for understanding how emotions influence the content and strength of an individual's beliefs and their resistance or openness to modification

Belief as Emotion Miriam Schleifer McCormick, 2024-10-31 Belief as Emotion argues that belief is a type of emotion where emotions are understood as irreducibly blended states that transcend the cognitive non cognitive divide containing representational motivational and phenomenological elements On this view to believe is to feel that the way one represents the world is accurate and this feeling is a kind of evaluation This view helps explain a number of puzzling phenomena in epistemology philosophy of mind philosophy of action and philosophy of religion Further thinking of beliefs as emotions helps us to understand the ethics of belief It offers a better understanding of what are sometimes called edge cases of beliefs ones that seem belief like but that are hard to fit into most standard pictures of belief These include delusions religious and political attitudes and belief in the context of trust Given their complicated relationship to evidence and action many theorists claim that such attitudes should not be categorized as beliefs but as a different mental state Belief as Emotion does not force us to exclude states as real beliefs that we pre reflectively think of as beliefs and that does not require us to outsource the work belief seems to do to other mental states The view also illuminates the phenomena of self deception implicit bias and deep disagreement Ideal emotional maintenance is complex thinking of beliefs as emotions acknowledges and embraces this complexity of our doxastic lives

Dynamics Of Crowd-minds: Patterns Of Irrationality In Emotions, Beliefs And Actions Andrew Adamatzky, 2005-05-30 A crowd mind emerges when formation of a crowd causes fusion of individual minds into one collective mind Members of the crowd lose their individuality The deindividuation leads to derationalization emotional impulsive and irrational behavior self catalytic activities memory impairment perceptual distortion hyper responsiveness and distortion of traditional forms and structures This book presents unique results of computational studies on cognitive and affective space time processes in large scale collectives of abstract agents being far from mental equilibrium Computational experiments demonstrate that the irrational and nonsensical behavior of individual entities of crowd mind results in complex rich and non trivial spatio temporal dynamics of the agent collectives Mathematical methods employ theory and techniques of cellular automata and lattice swarms applied algebra theory of finite automata and Markov chains and elementary differential equations

Literary Reading, Cognition and Emotion Michael Burke, 2010-10-18 This work seeks to chart what happens in the embodied minds of engaged readers when they read literature Despite the recent stylistic linguistic and cognitive advances that have been made in text processing methodology and practice very little is known about this cultural cognitive process and especially about the role that emotion plays Burk's theoretical and empirical study focuses on three central issues the role emotions play in a core cognitive event like literary text processing the kinds of bottom up and top down inputs most prominently involved in the literary reading process and what might be happening in the minds and bodies of engaged readers when they experience intense or heightened emotions a phenomenon sometimes labelled reader epiphany This study postulates that there is a free flow of bottom up and top down affective cognitive inputs during the engaged act of literary reading and that reading does not necessarily begin or end when our eyes apprehend the words on
