Inclusive Education in South Africa:

- Historically there was an unequal delivery of education in SA
- There were two separate education systems:
 1. For 'normal' learners
 2. For learners who were labelled with a 'special need'
- Only small percentage of children with 'special needs' from privileged sectors had access to special schools
- Many disadvantaged learners and learners with 'special needs' were accepted into ordinary schools but were ignored
- Most of the time these learners were rejected when they applied at schools resulting in them being excluded from the educational system
- Therefore there is a need for a system that will benefit not only learners with disabilities but also learners without disabilities from all areas of the country in all schools

Why was Inclusive education introduced?

- Because many learners were excluded in the education system

What is Inclusive Education supported by?

- Legislation supporting Inclusive Education
- SA Constitution (Act 108 of 1996)
- SA Schools Act (Act 84 of 1996)
- Education White Paper 6 (2001)

What documents mandate inclusion in the South African context?

- SA Constitution (Act 108 of 1996)
- SA Schools Act (Act 84 of 1996)
- The National Commission on Special Education Needs and Training
- The National Committee on Education Support Services (1997)
- Education White Paper 6 (2001)

What were schools separated on?

- Racial and cultural background
- School for whites (Afrikaans + English speaking)
- Schools for blacks (Sepedi/ Zulu speaking)
- Socioeconomic status (Rich + Poor)
- Learners functioning levels (Mainstream + Special schools)

What is the aim of the Inclusive Education system?

- To redress past imbalances and provide quality and accessible education to all of its citizens

How do we make sense of Inclusive Education?

- There have been changes in thinking about how children develop
- There is a move towards a more human rights approach
- Traditionally we used a medical model approach in education of children with barriers to learning
- We moved towards a social model approach in education of children

What strategies can be used to implement Inclusive Education?
