Circle Story/Story Map Language Arts

The following CCSS standards are addressed in this reading/learning activity: RL.1.1, RL.1.2, RL.1.3, RL.1.4, RL.1.5, RL.1.6, RL.1.7, RL.1.8, RL.1.9, RL.2.1, RL.2.2, RL.2.3, RL.2.4, RL.2.5, RL.2.6, RL.2.7, RL.2.8, RL.2.9, RL.3.1, RL.3.2, RL.3.3, and RL.3.4. The students will analyze texts to understand explicitly, understand infer, or synthesize information.

Read the book to the students (read the text and listen to them) and ask them to predict what they think the story might be about. After they respond, read the book to them, asking them to read along whenever they want to. Then, begin the process of using a story map to discuss the story elements. Discuss with them the elements of "setting." Explain to them what the word setting means if needed, and then write down whatever they tell you for the setting. Repeat the process with "characters." Then explain to the students that their book is divided into separate "pages." Have them discuss what they perceive each event to be, and write down their responses. Finally, give the students the opportunity to come up with their own ideas.

After the students have finished the book, explain to the students that the story begins and ends in the same place.

Constructing a circle story. After identifying the story's elements, the students can illustrate each event in their stories. They can draw their "circle characters" in the story.

Have children's books have a similar format structure (story graphs) that they can use to write in it a longer story. The students can be able to read and understand the format of these stories. By specifically pointing out the elements of a story map, the students will begin to understand how stories are written.

Illustrated with the students, a triangle begins making the house a square. The triangle and square cannot be drawn which leads to the end.

In Search of a Shape: Shape With Social Studies

To enhance a social studies lesson, compare and contrast natural shapes.

Go for a walk in search of a shape in your neighborhood. Look closely at things around you and bring a camera along to capture the shapes you see. Put the pictures into PowerPoint and outline the shapes. What shapes are most common? Where are shapes found in nature? What is water, finding shapes in nature or human made structures? Design a shape that is made out of only one shape. Draw a picture and write about the shape.
