Teaching for Change Kathryn Geismar, Guitele Nicoleau, 1993 Teaching For Change is a unique and indispensable collection of articles that speaks directly to college educators about classroom learning and issues of difference The contributors describe how they address issues of race gender and class in their courses and attempt to ensure that their curricula and class discussions represent the perspectives of all students The contributors who all teach at the college level first provide the background situations at their institutions that led them to develop their curricula and courses They then describe and evaluate the practical methods they use to encourage students to re think their assumptions and behavior around issues of difference And finally they address an important element of classroom learning the difficulty of breaking down barriers that prevent productive dialogue about these issues Teaching for Change provides concrete examples of successful curricula that enhance the learning process for all students making it an essential resource for today s college educators

Biomedical Science and Clinical Foundations Cynthia A. Standley, 2025-09-26 This book teaches medical students basic science and clinical concepts utilizing over 30 cases that cover all major organ systems Case based learning has become a core way to teach the application of foundational material in the basic and clinical sciences in the pre clerkship years Medical schools curriculums tend to be traditional organ systems based or problem based There are many discipline based textbooks for students to use in a traditional approach to medical education For the organ systems based approach there are many books dedicated to each organ system where clinical relevance is tied in with basic science concepts In a problem based curriculum students use clinical cases to stimulate inquiry knowledge application and critical thinking While there are many books available for faculty to learn how to teach in a problem based approach there is a paucity of textbooks that provide the breadth and depth of clinical cases integrated with basic medical sciences This book serves to fill that gap Written when the authors were fourth year medical students and edited by an experienced educator each case is designed to present the reader with the information they need to know in a direct and accessible format Cases are organized by organ system Each case includes learning objectives clinical and basic science patient history detailed physical exam labs imaging test results treatment outcomes and sample board style exam questions In addition each case has an additional objective to approach topics such as ethics social determinants of health behavioral health healthcare transformation and public health This is an ideal resource for first and second year medical students to learn these foundational concepts and prepare for USMLE Step 1 and 2 board examinations
