Narrative style intro to factual recount can build reader engagement

Yes, it was the morning of what was going to be the best holiday ever. Mum, Dad, Ingrid and I are going to Narrawong. We packed all of our things in the car ready to go and said 'goodbye' to all of our animals. We left home at about three o'clock. It was a very long drive. At four o'clock we got to our friends' place, we had to pick up the key-box and instructions. When we had sorted everything out we said it was great to see you and continued onto Narrawong.

By the time we got there, it was 6:00. Dad went to grab the key, but it was not in the key box that we got from our friends. We were all very worried about what we were going to do? We were trying to reach our friends but it seemed to take forever. They said 'In the office, there will be an emergency key'. We were relieved we did not have to travel back to their house.

We unlocked the house. Upstairs were two double beds, we also saw a dining table and a huge kitchen. We went back downstairs to the bathroom. Oh no! something had smashed. We did not know what it was. Mum picked it up, it was a mirror. She cleaned up the mess and put it in the bin.

The next day we had breakfast and went into Portland, we drove across a long bridge above the water. Mum and Ingrid stayed in the car, while Dad and I walked along where the seals were playing. The bridge was very swirly and wobbly. On our way back we saw another seal. We went back to Narrawong and had leftovers from the night before for lunch. I went downstairs and found some remote control cars. I played with the red one while Ingrid played with the green one. They were really fun to play with.

That afternoon we went fishing. Mum and Ingrid laid on a picnic rug enjoying the warm hot shining sun. We did not catch anything but were determined we would. Mum and Ingrid left after a while to go to the shops to get some clothes because Mum packed winter clothes, but we needed clothes for warmer weather. We caught nothing that afternoon. We had showers, dinner and watched TV. Soon enough it was time for bed.

This morning we hung around the house for a little bit. We drove our cars and went for a look around the park. I went for a walk to get some sticks for our fire later that night. We had some lunch. We spotted a blue tongue in the garden beside the caravan. We went to the beach and had a short dip in the water and walked up the beach. There were so many shells, pearls and cuttlefish. We collected some of the shells and pearls. All the shells were shining beautifully and had lots of special markings on them. The cuttlefish was for our cocktails. We walked for about an hour then decided to turn back. That night we had a fire and roasted marshmallows, we all had showers, got in our pj's, cleaned up and off to bed we went.

It was our last day in Narrawong. We packed up most of our things. That morning we went for another walk and saw some small cute baby bunnies. We ate lunch back at the house. We then went fishing for the last time and caught nothing again.

It was three o'clock and time to go. The car was packed, and we locked up and headed home. Our animals were so excited to see us. A trip to remember. Best holiday ever!
