Unit 3 Evolution

Unit Preparation Questions (Assessing Readiness)

(Student textbook pages 290–3)

- c
- a
- The major steps followed during a scientific inquiry are: making observations, asking questions, forming a hypothesis, making a prediction, performing an experiment/investigation, analyzing data, drawing a conclusion, and supporting or rejecting/revising the hypothesis.
- a
- a. Repeat the experiment several times.
b. Revise your hypothesis.
- c
- c
- a
- a true; b true; c false; Meiosis leads to four genetically different daughter cells. d false; Meiosis is important for generating genetic variation among the daughter cells and each cell will have half the number of chromosomes. e true
- c
- c
- The original source of all new alleles is genetic mutation.
- b
- Black with a long tail
- Because the allele for dimples is dominant, a dimpled adult may be heterozygous—carrying the non-dimpled allele. If both parents carry the recessive allele, they have a 25% chance of having a child with no dimples.

16. Comparison of Genotype and Phenotype

Term	Description	Example
Genotype	The combination of alleles in an individual organism	The combination of alleles for any given trait, such as Ss or AaBb
Phenotype	The outward expression of an organism's genotype; an organism's phenotype is its physical and physiological traits	A physical characteristic, such as pea shape; a physiological characteristic, such as sickle cell anemia; or a behavioural characteristic, such as territorial behaviour

- Mendel's discovery of the allele is so important because the laws that Mendel developed through his work on pea plants formed the foundations of our modern theory of inheritance and his discovery explained the mechanism underlying evolution and natural selection.
- c
- a
- a
- Answers may include predators, food availability, competition, weather factors, and disease.

22. Comparison of Biotic and Abiotic Factors

Term	Description	Example
Biotic factor	Living features of an ecosystem	Plants, animals, micro-organisms
Abiotic factor	Non-living features of an ecosystem	Water, rocks

- a. The carrying capacity
b. The carrying capacity is the point at which the environment supports the maximum population size. Growth slows because resources become limited. For example, if a species needs to nest in a particular habitat, the environment reaches its carrying capacity for that species once all the required nesting habitat is occupied.

Willeboordse, 2009-12-01 Why is rubber elastic Why are leaves green Why can a gecko climb a wall Answering these and a myriad of other puzzles of nature Exploring Integrated Science shows how the simplest questions that arise from our daily experiences can lead us through a chain of reasoning that explains some of the most fascinating principles of science Written in a      The Sciences James Trefil, Robert M. Hazen, 2022-12-20 The Sciences An Integrated Approach 9th Edition by James Trefil and Robert Hazen recognizes that science forms a seamless web of knowledge about the universe This text fully integrates physics chemistry astronomy Earth sciences and biology and emphasizes general principles and their application to real world situations The goal of the text is to help students achieve scientific literacy Applauded by students and instructors for its easy to read style and detail appropriate for non science majors the ninth edition has been updated to bring the most up to date coverage to the students in all areas of science with increased emphasis on climate change sustainability viruses and public health and an extensively updated chapter on the importance of bioengineering FEATURES INCLUDE The Science of Life To help show the interdisciplinary nature of the many concepts introduced in the text sections on living things are included in most chapters The chapters that emphasize principles specifically related to life are at the end of the book but the biological examples appear throughout The Ongoing Process of Science Science is a never ending process of asking questions and seeking answers In these features some of the most exciting questions currently being addressed by scientists are examined Mathematical Equations and Worked Examples Whenever an equation is introduced it is presented in three steps first as a sentence second as a word equation and finally in its traditional symbolic form In this way students can focus on the meaning rather than the abstraction of the mathematics An appendix on English and SI units is also included Science by the Numbers To help students understand the importance of simple mathematical calculations in areas of magnitude several nontraditional calculations have been incorporated For example how much solid waste is generated in the United States how long it would take to erode a mountain and how many people were required to build Stonehenge Great Ideas and Great Ideas Concept Each chapter begins with a statement of a great unifying idea or theme in science and a concept map so that students immediately grasp the chief concept of the chapter and how the idea relates to the different branches of science These statements are intended to provide a framework for placing everyday experiences into a broad context Stop and Think Questions challenge students to think critically about the implications of a scientific discovery or principle Resources for Instructors and Students including practice quizzes flashcards lecture slides an instructor s manual images and tables from the book a test bank and much more      Integrated Science Bill W. Tillery, Eldon D. Enger, Frederick C. Ross, 2001 Integrated Science is an easy to read but substantial introduction to the fundamental behavior of matter and energy in living and nonliving systems It is intended to serve the needs of non science majors who are required to complete one or more science courses as part of a general or basic studies requirement It introduces basic concepts and key ideas while providing opportunities for students to learn reasoning skills and a new way of thinking about their environment No prior work in science is assumed The language as well as the mathematics is as simple as can be practical for a college level science course Integrated Science Laboratory Manual Michael J. Woolnough,1994 Science teaching in schools is often criticized especially by older students for being too prescribed too impersonal too lacking in opportunity for personal judgement and creativity Science has become reduced to a series of small apparently trivial activities and pieces of knowledge unrelated to the world in which the students are growing up and inhibiting to their developing personalities and aspirations And yet despite the pressures of national curriculum and examination syllabuses science in schools can be and often is much more exciting and stimulating than that This book celebrates such science teaching and the qualities of the teachers who produce it and argues that doing science should be a holistic not a reductionist activity involving the affective as well as the cognitive aspects of a student s life We should be concerned not only with what students know and can do but also with whether they want to do it Furthermore Brian Woolnough argues that the best form of effective science teaching is through student research projects in which students take a problem of personal concern to themselves and tackle it worry at it persevere in it and meeting its challenges produce their own solution Such involvement in genuine scientific activity is it is argued not only possible in schools but essential if school science is to do justice to our students and to the scientific enterprise itself Instructor ,1981 Children's Books in Print, 2007 ,2006 Multimedia and Videodisc Compendium ,1995 Integrated Teaching Materials Robert Murray Thomas,Sherwin G.
