Research Handbook on Climate Governance Karin Bäckstrand, Eva Lövbrand, 2015-11-27 The 2009 United Nations climate conference in Copenhagen is often represented as a watershed in global climate politics when the diplomatic efforts to negotiate a successor agreement to the Kyoto Protocol failed and was replaced by a fragmented and decentralized climate governance order In the post Copenhagen landscape the top down universal approach to climate governance has gradually given way to a more complex hybrid and dispersed political landscape involving multiple actors arenas and sites The Handbook contains contributions from more than 50 internationally leading scholars and explores the latest trends and theoretical developments of the climate governance scholarship

Keeping Women in Science Kate White, 2015-01-05 Keeping Women in Science examines the careers of women and men at a large Australian research institute and the challenges that women with or without children experience often resulting from direct and indirect discrimination and being positioned as outsiders The research found a huge generational change between the Baby Boomers the current science leaders and Gen X and Gen Ys Younger women and men reject the traditional model of a successful scientist a single male for whom science is like a religious vocation Instead they seek new models for doing science that support dual careers work flexibility and work life balance
