Royden,2018 Merseyside at War Rodney Whitworth,1988 Liverpool Bryan Perrett,1990 Mersey Built: The Role of Merseyside in the American Civil War Robert Thorp,2018-04-10 Mersey Built chronicles the little known commercial battle that raged between North and South during the American Civil War The South relied on Europe for its military supplies which the North tried to stop with a naval blockade of all Southern ports The South retaliated by destroying Northern merchant ships on the high seas using war ships secretly procured from British shipyards and smuggled out of Britain by sympathetic British captains using British crews The Charleston based business empire headed by George Trenholm provided a conduit for Confederate finance with its Liverpool branch acting as bankers for the Confederacy s procurement agents Merseyside with its extensive docks and numerous shipyards quickly became the epicenter of Confederate operations in Europe Several British businessmen bought ships specifically to run supplies through the Union blockade leaving relationships between the United States and Britain strained close to breaking point The book relates the history of Trenholm s commercial empire its pre war expansion into Liverpool and the pivotal role it played in supporting the Confederate war effort The involvement of other Liverpool based entrepreneurs and their successes and failures in blockade running is described Background histories of the Merseyside ship

captain brings new insights and previously unpublished facts to light in this fascinating chapter of history Port at War Mersey Docks and Harbour Company, T. J. Buckley, 1946 Our War: Merseyside's Wartime Children Anthony Hogan, 2017-03-31 The story of the Second World War in Merseyside as witnessed by the city's children The Chemical Age, 1922 Second Great War, 1942 Arthur Johnson's Secret Blitz Diary Arthur Johnson, 2005 Adolf Hitler threw everything he could at Merseyside in the early stages of the Second World War The region was torn apart and huge areas were flattened but the one thing the Luftwaffe could not destroy was the spirit of the people Hitler had ordered that the port with its vital Atlantic links should be destroyed and he almost succeeded The death toll here was twice that of any other British port In 14 raids on Liverpool and Bootle alone 3 100 tonnes of high explosives were dropped 3 966 Merseyside civilians were killed between August 1940 and January 1942 and more than 3 000 seriously injured over the eight days and nights of the May Blitz 100 000 houses were destroyed or damaged on the Liverpool side of the river alone in one week alone 41 000 people in Liverpool had to be found temporary accommodation because their homes had been destroyed Merseysiders stood side by side throughout this nightmare period and one man Liverpool Echo Blitz Correspondent Arthur Johnson ensured that the facts would be preserved forever in a remarkable personal diary that he meticulously kept as he toured war torn Liverpool night after night features the entire diary exactly as it was written plus many photographs from the unmatchable archive of the Liverpool Daily Post and Echo Johnson then in his early thirties knew that the newspaper reports he submitted would be subject to the censor and that the truth would almost certainly not appear in the papers The government policy was that there must be little bad war news for the public So every time he returned home he would tap out the true story of the terrible massacres and bombings he had seen He filed his reports in a grey folder entitled Air Raid Records The folder was kept locked away as it was totally illegal to keep records of this nature Now the contents of this historic diary can be fully revealed Arthur Johnson whose son of the same name would later work for the local media was a real character What would he think about his secret diary being published 60 years after his death M. R. C. War
