Financial Econometrics, Mathematics and Statistics introduces tools and methods important for both finance and accounting that assist with asset pricing, corporate finance, options and futures, and conducting financial accounting research. Divided into four parts, the text begins with topics related to regression and financial econometrics. Subsequent sections describe time series analysis, the role of binomial, multinomial, and log normal distributions in option pricing models, and the application of statistics to risk management. The real world applications and problems offer students a unique insight into such topics as heteroskedasticity, regression, simultaneous equation models, panel data analysis, time series analysis, and the generalized method of moments. Written by leading academics in the quantitative finance field, it allows readers to implement the principles behind financial econometrics and statistics through real world applications and problem sets. This textbook will appeal to a less served market of upper undergraduate and graduate students in finance, economics, and statistics.
