Engineering Drawing 8 November 2013 Memorandum:

Bell Telephone System's Preeminent Role in the Growth of Industrial Design Ralph O. Meyer, Russell A.

Flinchum, 2025-05-15 Histories of design pay scant attention to the corded telephone which played an immeasurable role in early communication Although the Bell System with many Nobel Prizes is justly acknowledged for its technical prowess it should also be recognized for its early and considerable impact on the developing discipline of industrial design In 1930 young Henry Dreyfuss who would later become known as a pioneer of industrial design was retained by the Bell System as a design consultant and matured in that environment With substantial input from Bell System engineers Dreyfuss and his staff produced attractive telephone designs that were manufactured and installed in more than one hundred million American homes and copied around the world Featuring over one hundred illustrations Bell Telephone System's Preeminent Role in the Growth of Industrial Design is a deep dive into the development and evolution of the corded telephone A detailed case study of an object that would become so ubiquitous and commonplace it is also the story writ large of the establishment and importance of the field of industrial design

Drawing Futures Bob Sheil, Frédéric Migayrou, Luke Pearson, Laura Allen, 2016-11-11 Drawing Futures brings together international designers and artists for speculations in contemporary drawing for art and architecture Despite numerous developments in technological manufacture and computational design that provide new grounds for designers the act of drawing still plays a central role as a vehicle for speculation There is a rich and long history of drawing tied to innovations in technology as well as to revolutions in our philosophical understanding of the world In reflection of a society now underpinned by computational networks and interfaces allowing hitherto unprecedented views of the world the changing status of the drawing and its representation as a political act demands a platform for reflection and innovation Drawing Futures will present a compendium of projects writings and interviews that critically reassess the act of drawing and where its future may lie Drawing Futures focuses on the discussion of how the field of drawing may expand synchronously alongside technological and computational developments The book coincides with an international conference of the same name taking place at The Bartlett School of Architecture UCL in November 2016 Bringing together practitioners from many creative fields the book discusses how drawing is changing in relation to new technologies for the production and dissemination of ideas

Nes Ammim Gert van Klinken, 2021 Today Europe is a favoured destination for refugees from all over the world We might have forgotten an earlier exodus during the aftermath of the Second World War in the opposite direction Jewish survivors of the Holocaust aimed for Palestine and after 1948 the State of Israel Protestants from the Netherlands Switzerland America and Germany intended to join the Jewish people in their new homeland by building the village Nes Ammim The Netherlands had been occupied during the war Switzerland had remained neutral Germany carried the taints of guilt and defeat the United States the laurels of the victor What made them work together And why did the Americans and the Swiss withdraw in 1967 the year of the Six Day War The many questions surrounding this village do not end here Nes Ammim was founded near Akko in 1962 Just fourteen years earlier a majority of the local population had been Druze or Arab Most of the Arabs ended up as refugees and their land was repurposed for the kibbutzim How did Protestants relate to these events It is not the intention of the author to impose present day views onto the Christian founders of Nes Ammim The challenge of understanding their mindset within the context of their time is exactly what makes them so fascinating
