Geography 2013 Exemplar:

Writers, Editors and Exemplars in Medieval English Texts Sharon M. Rowley, 2020-12-24 This collection of essays explores the literary legacy of medieval England by examining the writers editors and exemplars of medieval English texts In order to better understand the human agency creativity and forms of sanctity of medieval England these essays investigate both the production of medieval texts and the people whose hands and minds created altered and or published them The chapters consider the writings of major authors such as Chaucer Gower and Wyclif in relation to texts authors and ideals less well known today and in light of the translation and interpretive reproduction of the Bible in Middle English The essays make some texts available for the first time in print and examine the roles of historical scholars in the construction of medieval English literature and textual cultures By doing so this collection investigates what it means to recover study and represent some of the key medieval English texts that continue to influence us today ICSSSED 2020 Muhammad Nur Sa'ban, Benni Setiawan, Danu Eko Agustinova, Sutanto Trijuni Putro, Robbi Rahim, 2020-11-04 The theme of the conference is Reconstructing Morals Education and Social Sciences for Achieving Sustainable Development Goals This theme was formulated due to several considerations First the symptoms of moral decline that have the potential to destroy the nation Morals guide humanity towards truth and civilization The phenomenon of the dehumanization process in the industrial era that pushed people to be part of abstract societies tends to ignore humanity The education process as a humanitarian system is increasingly marginalized especially during discussions about the industrial revolution 4.0 and Society 5.0 The conference placed six sub themes for speakers and participants to share ideas namely Social Sciences and Laws History and Cultural Studies Interdisciplinary Studies Morals and Humanities Policy Politics and Communication Education The committee has received 195 abstracts from prospective speakers However there are only 80 abstracts that are eligible to be presented at this conference Text and Image in the City Catherine Armstrong, John Hinks, 2017-03-07 The essays in this collection discuss how the city is textualized and address many aspects of how texts and images are written and produced in and about cities They demonstrate how urban texts and images provoke reactions in city dwellers visitors civic and political actors that in turn impact upon the shape of the city itself Many kinds of urban texts both manuscript and print are discussed including chapbooks periodicals poetry graffiti and street signs The essays derive from a range of disciplines including book history urban history cultural history literary studies art history and urban planning and explore some key questions in urban cultural history including the relationship between text image and the city the function of the text or image within an urban environment how urban texts and images have been used by those in positions of power and by those with little or no power the ways in which urban identity and values have been reflected in street literature graffiti and subversive texts and images and whether theories of urban space can help us to understand the relationship between text image and the city As such this volume will serve to enhance the reader's understanding of the nature of urbanism from a historical perspective the creation and representation of urban space and the processes of urbanization It investigates how the creation distribution and consumption of urban texts and images actively affect the shaping of the city itself a mutually constitutive process whereby text image and city create and sustain each other

Heritage, Affect and Emotion Divya P. Tolia-Kelly, Emma Waterton, Steve Watson, 2016-07-01 Heritage and its economies are driven by affective politics and consolidated through emotions such as pride awe joy and pain In the humanities and social sciences there is a widespread acknowledgement of the limits not only of language and subjectivity but also of visuality and representation Social scientists particularly within cultural geography and cultural studies have recently attempted to define and understand that which is more than representational through the development of theories of affect assemblage post humanism and actor network theory to name a few While there have been some recent attempts to draw these lines of thinking more forcefully into the field of heritage studies this book focuses for the first time on relating heritage with the politics of affect The volume argues that our engagements with heritage are almost entirely figured through the politics of affective registers such as pain loss joy nostalgia pleasure belonging or anger It brings together a number of contributions that collectively and with critical acuity question how researchers working in the field of heritage might begin to discover and describe affective experiences especially those that are shaped and expressed in moments and spaces that can be at times intensely personal intimately shared and ultimately social It explores current theoretical advances that enable heritage to be affected released from conventional understandings of both heritage as objects and objects as representations by opening it up to a range of new meanings emergent and formed in moments of encounter Whilst representational understandings of heritage are by no means made redundant through this agenda they are destabilized and can thus be judged anew in light of these developments Each chapter offers a novel and provocative contribution provided by an interdisciplinary team of researchers who are thinking theoretically about affect through landscapes practices of commemoration visitor experience site interpretation and other heritage work
