Engineering Science Njuly Memorandum 2014:

Environmental Water Markets and Regulation Katherine Owens, 2016-11-18 River systems around the world are degraded and are being used unsustainably Meeting this challenge requires the development of flexible regimes that have the potential to meet essential consumptive needs while restoring environmental flows This book focuses on how water trading frameworks can be repurposed for environmental water recovery and aims to conceptualise the most appropriate role for law in supporting recovery through these frameworks The author presents a comprehensive study of the legal frameworks in four jurisdictions the States of Oregon and Colorado in the western United States the province of Alberta in Canada and the Murray Darling Basin in Australia Basin State of New South Wales A close comparative analysis of these four jurisdictions reveals a variety of distinctive regulatory arrangements and collaborations between public and private actors In all cases the law has been deployed to steer and coordinate these water governance activities The book argues that each regime is based on a particular regulatory strategy with different conceptions of the appropriate roles for and relationships between various actors and institutions Legal frameworks do not have the capacity to rationalise and provide an overarching and absolute solution to the complex environmental and governance issues that arise in the context of environmental water transactions Rather the role of law in this context needs to be reconceptualised within the paradigm of regulatory capitalism as establishing and maintaining the limits within which regulatory participants can operate innovate and collaborate

The Central Intelligence Agency and Overhead Reconnaissance Gregory Pedlow, Donald Welzenbach, 2016-03-15 The CIA's 2013 release of its book The Central Intelligence Agency and Overhead Reconnaissance 1954-1974 is a fascinating and important historical document It contains a significant amount of newly declassified material with respect to the U-2 and Oxcart programs including names of pilots codenames and cryponyms locations funding and cover arrangements electronic countermeasures equipment cooperation with foreign governments and overflights of the Soviet Union Cuba China and other countries Originally published with a Secret No Foreign Dissemination classification this detailed study describes not only the program's technological and bureaucratic aspects but also its political and international context including the difficult choices faced by President Eisenhower in authorizing overflights of the Soviet Union and the controversy surrounding the shoot down there of U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers in 1960 The authors discuss the origins of the U-2 its top secret testing its specially designed high altitude cameras and complex life support systems and even the possible use of poison capsules by its pilots if captured They call attention to the crucial importance of the U-2 in the gathering of strategic and tactical intelligence as well as the controversies that the program unleashed Finally they discuss the CIA's development of a successor to the U-2 the Oxcart which became the world's most technologically advanced aircraft For the first time the more complete 2013 release of this historical text is available in a professionally typeset format supplemented with higher quality photographs that will bring alive these incredible aircraft and the story of their development and use by the CIA This edition
