Urbanization and Development, 2016. The analysis of urban development of the past twenty years presented in this maiden edition of the World Cities Report shows with compelling evidence that there are new forms of collaboration and cooperation, planning, governance, finance, and learning that can sustain positive change. The Report unequivocally demonstrates that the current urbanization model is unsustainable in many respects. It conveys a clear message that the pattern of urbanization needs to change in order to better respond to the challenges of our time, to address issues such as inequality, climate change, informality, insecurity, and the unsustainable forms of urban expansion. Minnesota History Bulletin

Disciplinary Spaces, Andrea Fischer-Tahir, Sophie Wagenhofer, 2017.

This volume looks at territories such as reservations, model villages, and collective towns as the spatial materialization of forced assimilation and progress. These disciplinary spaces were created in order to disempower and alter radically the behavior of people who were perceived as ill-suited to fit into hegemonic imaginations of the nation since the 19th century. Comparing examples from the Americas, Australia, North and East Africa, Central Europe, as well as West and Central Asia, the book not only considers the acts and legitimizing narrations of ruling actors but highlights the agency of the subaltern who are often misrepresented as passive victims of violent assimilation strategies. Commonwealth Of Australia Gazette, Australia, 1913.
