Global Risk Governance in Health N. Brender, 2014-11-17 Epidemics know no borders and are often characterized by a high level of uncertainty causing major challenges in risk governance The author shows the emergence of global risk governance processes and the key role that the World Health Organization WHO plays within them Global Risk Governance Ortwin Renn, Katherine D. Walker, 2008-12-18 Japanese government planners set out in the 1960s to build a barrage on the Nagara River one of the last major free flowing rivers in Japan Conceived during a period of rapid growth in the Japanese economy the barrage was part of a national effort to ensure adequate water supplies for future economic development as well as to reduce flooding risks to downstream communities A string of lawsuits brought by groups concerned about the impact of the dam on ecological and fisheries sources resulted in costly delays the dam was not completed for more than 25 years The 1990s witnessed the start of a kind of biotech gold rush toward the use of genetic modification GM as tool to develop more productive crops through the introduction of herbicide insect and disease resistance to feed a growing world Opponents of the rapid deployment of GM crops have raised concerns about the safety of the technology and about its socio economic cultural and ethical implications The debate over this issue divided the world for example the US allowed the development of GM crops to move forward and now accounts for over half the GM crops grown worldwide whereas the European Union only recently lifted a de facto moratorium imposed in 1998 and now authorises products on a case by case basis Worldwide the development and use of GM crops is still barely covered by a patchwork of regulations and guidelines ranging from strict prohibition to none at all and creating its own sets of disparities and risks
