

HIGH SCHOOL LAB REPORT

Lab instructions (if any) in this class are given in the form of a handout/book, verbally, or both. Your lab group will consist of pairs or small groups depending upon the equipment available. Each individual lab partner needs to turn in a separate report. These lab reports will always be recorded in your laboratory notebook. The reports of lab partners may be similar but not identical reflecting the student's own thoughts and conclusions about the lab. Do not share your report with anyone. If two labs are obviously the same, the grade will be split in half for both students.

Your report grade will depend on the extent of the write-up required. If you and your partner(s) follow the instructions and perform the experiment carefully, there is no reason why you should not receive maximum credit on every report. The report should be neat, legible and written in complete sentences. In addition, all lab reports should be written in cursive.

Lab reports are due during the next scheduled lab period. Exceptions will be announced. Lab reports are to be turned in at the beginning of the period.

REQUIRED LAB REPORT

Lab Information: Lab title, name, group members, date(s) of performing experiment.

- I. Purpose: A brief statement of the purpose or objective of the experiment. What are you trying to determine by performing the experiment? You can usually copy these from the lab information provided in class.
- II. Materials: You should include a list of all lab equipment you need to perform this lab.
- III. Procedures: Write your procedures so that anyone reading your report, even a non-science person, can easily duplicate your data with a set of instructions.
- IV. Data and Observations: Organize your data table(s) so that:
 - A. It includes a title
 - B. Data table columns and rows include labels
 - C. Data table columns and rows include units
 - D. It includes several trials
 - E. Observations should include as much detail as possible.
- V. Graphs: (if applicable): Always create representations of your data in graphical form. Graphs must have the following:
 - A. Unless done on a computer, all graphs must be drawn on graph paper.
 - B. The graph (not just the axes) should cover at least 35-50% of the page. Teeny-tiny graphs are unacceptable.
 - C. Coordinate axes must be a straight edge.
 - D. Each axis must have a clear label followed by the units of the labeled quantity in parenthesis.
 - E. The scale used on each axis must be clearly stated and easy to read.
 - F. All plotted points must be small and made clear and easy to read.
 - G. Write a title above each graph. The title should not be a repeat of the axis labels. It should clearly differentiate the graph from any others. For example, "Graph II—The force on the 0.5

Middle School Life Science Judy Capra, 1999-08-23 Middle School Life Science Teacher's Guide is easy to use. The new design features tabbed loose sheets which come in a stand up box that fits neatly on a bookshelf. It is divided into units and chapters so that you may use only what you need. Instead of always transporting a large book or binder or box you may take only the pages you need and place them in a separate binder or folder. Teachers can also share materials. While one is teaching a particular chapter another may use the same resource material to teach a different chapter. It's simple it's convenient.

The Idea of a Writing Laboratory Neal Lerner, 2009-07-09 The Idea of a Writing Laboratory is a book about possibilities about teaching and learning to write in ways that can transform both teachers and students. Author Neal Lerner explores higher education's rich history of writing instruction in classrooms, writing centers, and science laboratories. By tracing the roots of writing and science educators' recognition that the method of the lab hands on student activity is essential to learning, Lerner offers the hope that the idea of a writing laboratory will be fully realized more than a century after both fields began the experiment. Beginning in the late nineteenth century, writing instructors and science teachers recognized that mass instruction was inadequate for a burgeoning non-traditional student population and that experimental or laboratory methods could prove to be more effective. Lerner traces the history of writing instruction via laboratory methods and examines its successes and failures through case studies of individual programs and larger reform initiatives. Contrasting the University of Minnesota General College Writing Laboratory with the Dartmouth College Writing Clinic for example, Lerner offers a cautionary tale of the fine line between experimenting with teaching students to write and curing the students of the disease of bad writing. The history of writing within science education also winds its way through Lerner's engaging work presenting the pedagogical origins of laboratory methods to offer educators in science in addition to those in writing studies possibilities for long sought after reform. The Idea of a Writing Laboratory compels readers and writers to don those white coats and safety glasses and discover what works and asserts that teaching writing as an experiment in what is possible as a way of offering meaning making opportunities for students no matter the subject matter is an endeavor worth the struggle.

Creatively Teach the Common Core Literacy Standards With Technology Catlin R. Tucker, 2015-05-27 Let technology pave the way to Common Core success. Your transition to the Common Core just got easier. When you start getting creative with technology you'll turn your classroom into a student centered learning environment that fosters collaboration, individualizes instruction, and cultivates essential technological literacy. This book is your road map to student success while meeting the Common Core ELA and literacy standards. Features include: Specific recommendations for free apps and tech tools that support the Common Core. Step by step guidelines to breaking down a Common Core standard for your grade and subject. Teacher tested lesson ideas and teaching strategies. Replicable resources including prewriting activities and writing templates. Real life examples. You don't need to be in a 1:1 school to do amazing things with technology.

With just a few devices you can engage a whole class. Delve into the Common Core ELA standards by having students experiment creatively with the tech tools at hand for a more meaningful and resonant learning experience. The book contains a tremendous collection of actionable ideas that can be seamlessly implemented to make a difference in all aspects of the classroom. A must own guide that will surely be a teacher's go to resource to help bring the standards to life. Adam Bellow, Founder of eduTecher, eduClipper, Plainview, New York. Catlin Tucker provides great ideas for student use of technology tools that cross the curriculum areas and allow the students to showcase their mastery of content. Students will love how the traditional classroom assessments are transformed. Kathy Schrock, Educational Technologist, Adjunct Instructor, Wilkes University, PA.

Discourse Analytic Perspectives on STEM Education
Juliet Langman, Holly Hansen-Thomas, 2017-05-23. This volume explores the nature of discourse in secondary and upper elementary mathematics and science classrooms. Chapters examine conditions that support or hinder teachers and students in particular language learners in employing language as a tool for learning. The volume provides rich oral and written language examples from a range of classroom contexts to illustrate how linguistic practices affect students' appropriation and display of disciplinary specific knowledge. Chapters further explore linguistic practices through with the support of discourse analytic models that foreground the authentic classroom data with the aim of understanding the dynamics of the classroom. The authors investigate the intersection between discourse and learning from a range of perspectives including an examination of key concepts such as intertextuality, interaction, mediation, scaffolding, appropriation, and adaptations. This
