The Dynamics of Opportunity in America Irwin Kirsch, Henry Braun, 2016-01-22 Across the country our children are beginning life from very different starting points Some have aspirations and believe they can be achieved For too many others aspirations are tempered if not dashed by the sobering realities of everyday life These different starting points place children on distinctly different trajectories of growth and development ultimately leading to vastly different adult outcomes How did we get to a place where circumstances of birth have become so determinative And what must we do within communities and across our country to better equalize opportunity for more Americans both young and old The editors of this volume contend that if as a nation we do nothing then we will continue to drift apart placing an unsustainable strain on the nation s social fabric and the character of its democracy Consequently understanding the dynamics governing the distribution and transmission of opportunity and transforming this understanding into policies and programs is critical for not only the life outcomes of individual Americans and their children but also the country as a whole The goal of Educational Testing Service s Opportunity in America initiative is to explore these powerful dynamics and to describe and convey them in a way that advances the national conversation about why we must take action and how best to do so This volume contains 14 chapters including an epilogue written by leaders from a range of fields including education economics demography and political science Collectively they not only illuminate key aspects of the problem but also offer suggestions of what policies programs and changes in practices could begin to reverse the trends we are seeing Written in an engaging style this volume constitutes an essential foundation for informed discussion and strategic analysis

Free Search Tools for Finding Research Information , Complex Problem Solving Beyond the Psychometric Approach Wolfgang Schoppek, Joachim Funke, Magda Osman, Annette Kluge, 2018-09-28 Complex problem solving CPS and related topics such as dynamic decision making DDM and complex dynamic control CDC represent multifaceted psychological phenomena In a broad sense CPS encompasses learning decision making and acting in complex and dynamic situations Moreover solutions to problems that people face in such situations are often generated in teams or groups This adds another layer of complexity to the situation itself because of the emerging issues that arise from the social dynamics of group interactions This framing of CPS means that it is not a single construct that can be measured by using a particular type of CPS task e.g. minimal complex system tests which is a view taken by the psychometric community The proposed approach taken here is that because CPS is multifaceted multiple approaches need to be taken to fully capture and understand what it is and how the different cognitive processes associated with it complement each other Thus this Research Topic is aimed at showcasing the latest work in the fields of CPS as well as DDM and CDC that takes a holistic approach to investigating and theorizing about these abilities The collection of articles encompasses conceptual approaches as well as experimental and correlational studies involving established or new tools to examine CPS DDM and CDC This work contributes to answering questions about what strategies and what general knowledge can be transferred from one type of complex and dynamic situation to another what learning conditions result in transferable knowledge and skills and how these features can be trained
