

Adam and Eve

God had labored for six days to create a world that was very good. He had made light and stars. He created land, air, and seas. He filled the water with fish and the air with birds. On day six, He spoke and land animals began to walk, run, and hop across the grass.

Yet with all the wonderful creation God had made, He decided to make one last creature.

“Let us make mankind in our own image. Man will rule over the fish in the sea, the birds in the sky, and all the animals that move on the earth.”

God formed a man out of the dust of the ground, but the man had no life in him. God breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living being!

God took the man and placed him into a garden filled with beautiful trees covered in good food. The man would tend and care for the garden.

God brought all the creatures He had created to the man. The man looked at birds and named them ostrich, emu, and raven. He decided to call land creatures cat, horse, and elephant. From the hippopotamus to the dog, every animal received a name from the man.
